VICTORY WON BY MRS. DENNISTOUN

VERDICT GIVES A BIG SUM TO FORMER WIFE

Jurors Find British Colonel's Divorced Mate Entitled To Nearly $25,000 As Damages For His Breach of Contract.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, March 24.—Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun won a victory today here over her former husband, who she alleged encouraged her intimacy with his superior officer, Sir John Cowans, to further his military advancement, when the jury which had heard the sensational trial rendered a verdict giving her L5,000 or nearly $25,000 as damages for his breach of contract in not providing for her support after their divorce in 1921.

The jury also ruled that the sums she had advanced her ex-husband, Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun, now husband of the Dowager Countess of Carnarvon, and which he claimed were gifts, were in fact loans which must be repaid.

The case was then adjourned until tomorrow when the jury will be asked to take up a number of minor questions in connection with the suit, the trial of which already has consumed fifteen days.

Finds Agreement Made.

LONDON, March 24.—The jury in the suit of Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun against her former husband, Lieut. Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun, found that Colonel Dennistoun did make a verbal agreement to assist in his former wife's support from time to time, but did not make the agreement set forth in Mrs. Dennistoun's claim.

The jury also found that the support was to vary in accordance with Mrs. Dennistoun's means and Colonel Dennistoun was only bound to assist her when the necessity arose; nor was he bound to support her if she became the wife or mistress of the Spaniard, Bolin, or the wife of a rich man.

Consideration Shown.

The consideration for the agreement, the jury said, was Mrs. Dennistoun's abstention from claiming maintenance or alimony before the French court at the tife of the divorce.

The jury also found that Colonel Dennistoun, before the issuance of the writ in the case, was financially able to support his former wife

The verdict found that all the sums Colonel Dennistoun had received from Mrs Dennistoun were in the form of loans, which the defendant had not repaid.

The jury retired again to decide the question of damages.

On returning the jury assessed the damages for Mrs. Dennistoun at L5,000.

Case Goes to Jury.

LONDON, March 24—The case of Mrs. Ian Inslow Dennistoun against her former husband, Lieutenant Colonel Dennistoun, for money she said she loaned him before their divorce, went to the jury this afternoon.

The case has aroused intense interest because of Mrs. Dennistoun's allegation that the defendant, now the husband of the Dowager Countess Carnarvon, encouraged her in an improper relationship with the late Sir John Cowans to further the colonel's military ambitions

Holds Marriage Binding.

A pronouncement that the marriage of Colonel Dennistoun to Lady Carnarvon was binding was one of the most important points in Justice McCardie's summing up to the jury. He based this on evidence which he said was clear that Colonel Dennistoun had been guilty of misconduct with an unnamed woman and had established a French domicile before the granting of the divorce to his former wife in 1921 in Paris.

Judge McCardie again dealt with the alleged agreement by Colonel Dennistoun to provide for his ex-wife's future He pointed out that it Mrs. Dennistoun's story was correct, Colonel Dennistoun knew she intended to marriy the Spaniard, Bolin, with whom the testimony in the case had connected her, and that the defendant had agreed to support her even though she might become the wife or the mistress of another man.

The judge said that one of the

ANSWER MADE BY BROOKHART

Iowa Senator Charges Contest Of His Election Is a "Dishonest and Fraudulent Conspiracy."

DENIES DESERTING REPUBLICAN PARTY

Reply Filed With Secretary Of The Senate In Answer To Republican State Central Committee.

(Associated Press.)

DES MOINES, Ia., March 24.—Denying allegations that he deserted the republican party in last year's campaign and obtained election to the United States senate 'by fraud and deceit," Senator Smith W. Brookhart today characterized the contest of his election brought by the republican state central commitee as a "dishonest and fraudulent conspiracy."

The denial of the committee's charge was made in the senator's reply to the committee's protest recently filed with the senate. His answer was to be filed with the secretary of the senate simultaneously with its publication here

Senator Brookhart declares he became a candidate for the senate as a republican and upon historic principles of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt; that he announced his platform and that the voters of Iowa nominated and elected him on a definite stand for these principles In his campaign the senator declared he urged the voters to identify themselves with the republican party, and "he continues to do so."

Claims Without Power.

The state central committee, Senator Brookhart continues, "has no power to remove a candidate's name from the ballot where the sovereign vote of the people places it and all suggestion of this right is dishonest and fraudulent It is an insinuation that the senate will consider fictitious and crooked charges for the purpose of removing a member with whom they do not agree."

The committee's action of protest against the seating of Senator Brookhart, says the reply, "was without warrant of law and was prepared by B. B. Burnquist, chairman of the state central committee, and H. E. Spangler, a member of the committee, as a result of a conspiracy between them for the defeating of the law and for purpose of private gain and profit"

The committee, the senator declares authorized the employment of counsel in filing the protest "and therupon Burnquist proceeded to employ him and Spangler for the purpose of collecting graft under the guise of attorneys fees."

BUDGET BILL IS ADVANCED

Measure Sent Ahead In Upper Branch Tuesday With Two More Amendments — Normal Schools Get $60,000 More For Buildings.

After quibbling the entire morning over changes it had made Monday afternoon in the main budget bill, the senate finally advanced the bill to third reading shortly before noon with only two more amendments. The normal schools were granted an additional $60,000 for building purposes during the biennium and the $5,000 appropriation for a sub-laboratory at Scotts Bluff which was added Monday was stricken out.

Practically every change made in the budget bill Monday was rehashed Tuesday morning before the bill was finally advanced.

An attempt by Senator Chambers to cut the $100,000 appropriation for a new penitentiary power plant unit to $15,000 was defeated

Senator Cooper of Douglas made a motion to cut out the $80,000 appropriation approved yesterday for a new girls' dormitorry and improvements to a machine buildig at the Curtis agricultural college. This, however, was defeated by a vote of 19 to 11.

No mention was made of an increase in the building fund for the university.

Divorce Bill to Governor.

Senator Reed's divorce bill, which requires that no final disposal shall be made for adivorce case until six months have passed after the time of filing, will go to the governor for his signature

The bill passed the house with only a few minor amendments being tacked on. These were concurred in by the senate Tuesday morning

The Dysart bill S. F. 204 providing for an extra district judge in the Lancaster judicial district, to be available to sit with the Supreme court, was indefinitely postponed.

The passage of the supreme court commission bill, which is practically assured, does away with the necessity of an extra district judge.

NORRIS RAPPED BY CUSTER REPS

Say They Did Not Expect to Influence Senior Senator.

Being Ostracized After Election Different From Before.

(Associated Press.)

BROKEN BOW, Neb., March 24—The republican county central committee here today made public a letter it had written to Senator Norris of Nebraska relative to the senator's charges that it had tried to influence him into voting for the confirmation of Charles B. Warren as attorney general. The letter terms Senator Norris' charges as a "rebuke."

Couched in strong terms, the letter declared that the committee did not intend to influence the senators and that it had a "moral right to ask you to vote as your constituents wanted you to" The letter also enumerated the names of sixty members of the republican county committee here and asked the Nebraska senator to give the names of "other county organizations that sent him wires asking him to vote for Warren."

The letter, a very long one, was signed by Julius Harmont, secretary, and H. T. Kennedy, chairman of the committee.

High Court to Hear Schuerman Appeal April 10

Among the hearings scheduled to be held next month in Supreme court is that on the appeal of Edward Schuerman from the decision of District Judge Wheeler, which denied the habeas corpus petition for the release of Schuerman from the state hospital for the insane The hearing is set for Friday, April 10.

Schuerman was committed to the hospital several months ago when the jury which tried him for the killing of Henry Rheinmiller, found that he was insane.

The petition for his release was denied by District Judge Wheeler on the ground that it was premature. The attorneys for Schuerman contend that he is now normal and should be released. The state denies that there is any cause for appeal from this decision since it was not in the form of a final decision. It is also contended by the state that if Schuerman was insane at the time the jury adjudged him so he could not have regained his sanity in so short a time.

CONSOLIDATION BILL APPROVED

Measure Gives Authority For Merging City and County Treasurers' Offices Opposed By Two Lancaster Members.

CLAIM SYSTEM WOULD COST LINCOLN MONEY

Cannot Go Into Effect Until People Change Home Rule Charter By Referendum; Long Period of Delays In Sight.

On the ground that it will cost the taxpayers of Lincoln $1,400 a year more to have the city treasurer's office consolidated with that of the Lancaster county treasurer, under the plan provided for, two members from this county and five from out in the state voted against the Jeary merger bill, S. F. 109, on its passage by the house Tuesday forenoon.

The bill received 87 affirmative votes, as against the 7 negatives. It has the emergency clause and will nominally go into effect at once when signed by the governor. The county treasurer's office is to receive, as its fee for collecting the city taxes and handling money, 1 per cent thereof. The county treasurer himself will be paid $600 a year by the city as extra salary. This is $100 a year more than the Douglas county treasurer receives for acting as ex officio treasurer of Omaha.

Provision is also made for the Lancaster county treasurer to act as treasurer of the Lincoln school district, without additional compensation.

People Must Vote.

The bill contains no proviso of any kind to having the consolidation question voted upon by the people of Lincoln as an amendment to the city's home rule charter, which City Attorney Peterson declares will be necessary before it can be made effective. Under the Nebraska constitution, matters of strictly municipal concern are under the exclusive control of any city operating under a home rule charter, and the legislature has no power to

BAIL IS URGED FOR SHEPHERD

Counsel For McClintock's Foster Father Argues "Not Slightest Evidence" Client Committed Capital Offense.

BELITTLES CONFESSION OF DR. C. C. FAIMAN

Contradicts State's Attorney Crowe's Assertions That Burden Of Innocence Proof Rests With The Accused.

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 24.—Counsel for William D. Shepherd, under indictment charged with the murder by typhoid inoculation of his foster son, William N. McClintock, argued today that the constitution requires that bail must be granted in all cases except capital offenses where the guilt is evident.

There was not the slightest evidence, said William Scott Stewart, representing Shephrd, that "Billy" McClintock, the orphan millionaire, the buk of whose estate was left by will to Shepherd, that the youth's death was caused by any criminal agent

Such a criminal agency must be proved, he asserted, independently of the confession of C. C. Faiman, head of the National University of Sciences, who has admitted that he instructed Shepherd in the inoculation of typhoid germs and understood that Shepherd was planning to get the boy's estate

Shepherd had promised him $100,000, it was charged by Faiman, who, as arsult of his confession was indicted with Shepherd

Contradicts Crowe.

Attorney Stewart contradicted State's Attorney Crowe's assertions that in a bail hearing of this kind, the burden to combat apresumption of guilt is upon the accused.

"No doubt the state's attorney has briefs and citations in cases where his contention has been held, but I am familiar with cases in which the courts have held the burden is upon the state," said Mr Stewart

"I have eaten and slept with this case and I am fairly familiar with it." he continued.

"Our criminal law is derived from the English law, which originally denied the accused man the right of witnesses in his behalf We in this country, have a constitution which undertook to correct some of the evils inherited from the old common law."

One Daughter May Be Partially Paralyzed During Life.

(Special to The Star)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 24—All members of the Meester family who were shot in their beds at their farm home early Monday morning by Fred Stellers, former farm hand on the place, are expected to live, according to word given out by the surgeon this noon

Elsie, the most severely injured of the four will probably be permanently paralyzed from the waist down. An attempt may be made later to remove the bullet which is lodged in the spine near the waist line, but because of her great loss of blood that is impossible now.

In his cell at the Adams county jail this morning, Fred Stellers broke down and cried when interviewed in regard to the crime

"I lost my head, that's all. Meester called me a bad name and I went to pieces"

Stellars said that girls came and stood in the door after he had shot their father and that he shot them there

The girls say that they were attacked in bed.

To Face Charge.

A complaint charging Fred Stellers with assault with intent to kill will be filed today, County Attorney Crow said this morning. If any of the victims die, a first degree murder charge will be filed. Stellars is occupying Ringer's cell

Mr. Meester was shot in the left side near the heart and the bullet was extracted from his back.

Elsie was shot in the right side of the chest and in the groin. From the first both her condition and that of her father was considered extremely grave.

Alice Meester narrowly escaped instant death when the bullet aimed at her head, glanced off the skull and came out the side of her neck. Although she lost considerable blood, she is expected to recover.

Lena, the oldest of the girls, attempted to aid the others and was beaten over the head with the butt of the revolver in the scuffle Her dress was pierced by a bullet and her neck was powder burned.

ANSWER MADE BY BROOKHART

Iowa Senator Charges Contest Of His Election Is a "Dishonest and Fraudulent Conspiracy."

DENIES DESERTING REPUBLICAN PARTY

Reply Filed With Secretary Of The Senate In Answer To Republican State Central Committee.

(Associated Press.)

DES MOINES, Ia., March 24.—Denying allegations that he deserted the republican party in last year's campaign and obtained election to the United States senate 'by fraud and deceit," Senator Smith W. Brookhart today characterized the contest of his election brought by the republican state central commitee as a "dishonest and fraudulent conspiracy."

The denial of the committee's charge was made in the senator's reply to the committee's protest recently filed with the senate. His answer was to be filed with the secretary of the senate simultaneously with its publication here.

Senator Brookhart declares he became a candidate for the senate as a republican and upon historic principles of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt; that he announced his platform and that the voters of Iowa nominated and elected him on a definite stand for these principles. In his campaign the senator declared he urged the voters to identify themselves with the republican party, and "he continues to do so."

It is an insinuation that the senate will consider fictitious and crooked charges for the purpose of removing a member with whom they do not agree."

The committee's action of protest against the seating of Senator Brookhart, says the reply, "was without warrant of law and was prepared by B. B. Spangler, a member of the committee, as a result of a conspiracy between them for the defeating of the law and for purpose of private gain and profit."

The committee, the senator declares authorized the employment of counsel in filing the protest "and therupon Burnquist proceeded to employ him and Spangler for the purpose of collecting graft under the guise of attorneys fees."

BUDGET BILL IS ADVANCED

Measure Sent Ahead In Upper Branch Tuesday With Two More Amendments — Normal Schools Get $60,000 More For Buildings.

After quibbling the entire morning over changes it had made Monday afternoon in the main budget bill, the senate finally advanced the bill to third reading shortly before noon with only two more amendments. The normal schools were granted an additional $60,000 for building purposes during the biennium and the $5,000 appropriation for a sub-laboratory at Scotts Bluff which was added Monday was stricken out.

Practically every change made in the budget bill Monday was rehashed Tuesday morning before the bill was finally advanced.

An attempt by Senator Chambers to cut the $100,000 appropriation for a new penitentiary power plant unit to $15,000 was defeated.

Senator Cooper of Douglas made a motion to cut out the $80,000 appropriation approved yesterday for a new girls' dormitorry and improvements to a machine buildig at the Curtis agricultural college. This, however, was defeated by a vote of 19 to 11.

No mention was made of an increase in the building fund for the university.

Divorce Bill to Governor.

Senator Reed's divorce bill, which requires that no final disposal shall be made for adivorce case until six months have passed after the time of filing, will go to the governor for his signature.

The bill passed the house with only a few minor amendments being tacked on. These were concurred in by the senate Tuesday morning.

The Dysart bill S. F. 204, providing for an extra district judge in the Lancaster judicial district, to be available to sit with the Supreme court, was indefinitely postponed.

The passage of the supreme court commission bill, which is practically assured, does away with the necessity of an extra district judge.

NORRIS RAPPED BY CUSTER REPS

Say They Did Not Expect to Influence Senior Senator.

Being Ostracized After Election Different From Before.

(Associated Press.)

BROKEN BOW, Neb., March 24.—The republican county central committee here today made public a letter it had written to Senator Norris of Nebraska relative to the senator's charges that it had tried to influence him into voting for the confirmation of Charles B. Warren as attorney general. The letter terms Senator Norris' charges as a "rebuke."

Couched in strong terms, the letter declared that the committee did not intend to influence the senators and that it had a "moral right to ask you to vote as your constituents wanted you to." The letter also enumerated the names of sixty members of the republican county committee here and asked the Nebraska senator to give the names of "other county organizations that sent him wires asking him to vote for Warren."

The letter, a very long one, was signed by Julius Harmont, secretary, and H. T. Kennedy, chairman of the committee.

High Court to Hear Schuerman Appeal April 10

Among the hearings scheduled to be held next month in Supreme court is that on the appeal of Edward Schuerman from the decision of District Judge Wheeler, which denied the habeas corpus petition for the release of Schuerman from the state hospital for the insane. The hearing is set for Friday, April 10.

Schuerman was committed to the hospital several months ago when the jury which tried him for the killing of Henry Rheinmiller, found that he was insane.

The petition for his release was denied by District Judge Wheeler on the ground that it was premature. The attorneys for Schuerman contend that he is now normal and should be released. The state denies that there is any cause for appeal from this decision since it was not in the form of a final decision. It is also contended by the state that if Schuerman was insane at the time the jury adjudged him so he could not have regained his sanity in so short a time.

Mayhew Talks On Disease Prevention

Dr. J. M. Mayhew was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Lincoln Rotary club, Tuesday at the Lincoln hotel. Dr. Mayhew's subject was "The Prevention of Disease" and was made exceptionally interesting. He told of the origin of some of the diseases in the United States, and of the cures for them. He spoke especially of tuberculosis and said that as yet there was no cure for it, and neither was there a cure for cancer, although one is on the way. Dr. Mayhew spoke of the scientists who had found cures for diseases and stated that not one of them had sold the cure to the government, but had given it to them.

CONSOLIDATION BILL APPROVED

Measure Gives Authority For Merging City and County Treasurers' Offices Opposed By Two Lancaster Members.

CLAIM SYSTEM WOULD COST LINCOLN MONEY

On the ground that it will cost the taxpayers of Lincoln $1,400 a year more to have the city treasurer's office consolidated with that of the Lancaster county treasurer, under the plan provided for, two members from this county and five from out in the state voted against the Jeary merger bill, S. F. 109, on its passage by the house Tuesday forenoon.

The bill received 87 affirmative votes, as against the 7 negatives. It has the emergency clause and will nominally go into effect at once when signed by the governor. The county treasurer's office is to receive, as its fee for collecting the city taxes and handling money, 1 per cent thereof. The county treasurer himself will be paid $600 a year by the city as extra salary. This is $100 a year more than the Douglas county treasurer receives for acting as ex officio treasurer of Omaha.

Provision is also made for the Lancaster county treasurer to act as treasurer of the Lincoln school district, without additional compensation.

People Must Vote.

The bill contains no proviso of any kind to having the consolidation question voted upon by the people of Lincoln as an amendment to the city's home rule charter, which City Attorney Peterson declares will be necessary before it can be made effective. Under the Nebraska constitution, matters of strictly municipal concern are under the exclusive control of any city operating under a home rule charter, and the legislature has no power to

BAIL IS URGED FOR SHEPHERD

Counsel For McClintock's Foster Father Argues "Not Slightest Evidence" Client Committed Capital Offense.

BELITTLES CONFESSION OF DR. C. C. FAIMAN

Contradicts State's Attorney Crowe's Assertions That Burden Of Innocence Proof Rests With The Accused.

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 24.—Counsel for William D. Shepherd, under indictment charged with the murder by typhoid inoculation of his foster son, William N. McClintock, argued today that the constitution requires that bail must be granted in all cases except capital offenses where the guilt is evident.

There was not the slightest evidence, said William Scott Stewart, representing Shephrd, that "Billy" McClintock, the orphan millionaire, the buk of whose estate was left by will to Shepherd, that the youth's death was caused by any criminal agent.

Such a criminal agency must be proved, he asserted, independently of the confession of C. C. Faiman, head of the National University of Sciences, who has admitted that he instructed Shepherd in the inoculation of typhoid germs and understood that Shepherd was planning to get the boy's estate.

Shepherd had promised him $100,000, it was charged by Faiman, who, as arsult of his confession, was indicted with Shepherd.

Contradicts Crowe.

Attorney Stewart contradicted State's Attorney Crowe's assertions that in a bail hearing of this kind, the burden to combat apresumption of guilt is upon the accused.

"No doubt the state's attorney has briefs and citations in cases where his contention has been held, but I am familiar with cases in which the courts have held the burden is upon the state," said Mr Stewart.

"I have eaten and slept with this case and I am fairly familiar with it," he continued.

"Our criminal law is derived from the English law, which originally denied the accused man the right of witnesses in his behalf. We in this country, have a constitution which undertook to correct some of the evils inherited from the old common law."

ALL MEMBERS OF FAMILY TO LIVE

Victims Of Shooting Near Hastings Expected To Recover.

One Daughter May Be Partially Paralyzed During Life.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 24.—All members of the Meester family who were shot in their beds at their farm home early Monday morning by Fred Stellers, former farm hand on the place, are expected to live, according to word given out by the surgeon this noon.

Elsie, the most severely injured of the four will probably be permanently paralyzed from the waist down. An attempt may be made later to remove the bullet which is lodged in the spine near the waist line, but because of her great loss of blood that is impossible now.

In his cell at the Adams county jail this morning, Fred Stellers broke down and cried when interviewed in regard to the crime.

"I lost my head, that's all. Meester called me a bad name and I went to pieces."

Stellars said that girls came and stood in the door after he had shot their father and that he shot them there.

The girls say that they were attacked in bed.

To Face Charge.

A complaint charging Fred Stellers with assault with intent to kill will be filed today, County Attorney Crow said this morning. If any of the victims die, a first degree murder charge will be filed. Stellars is occupying Ringer's cell.

Mr. Meester was shot in the left side near the heart and the bullet was extracted from his back.

Elsie was shot in the right side of the chest and in the groin. From the first both her condition and that of her father was considered extremely grave.

Alice Meester narrowly escaped instant death when the bullet aimed at her head, glanced off the skull and came out the side of her neck. Although she lost considerable blood, she is expected to recover.

Lena, the oldest of the girls, attempted to aid the others and was beaten over the head with the butt of the revolver in the scuffle. Her dress was pierced by a bullet and her neck was powder burned.

OFFICIALS LOOK OVER BURLINGTON

Bracken and Newton Of Chicago Offices Visit Lincoln.

E. P. Bracken, second vice president of the Burlington, and Chief Engineer A. W. Newton, both of Chicago, arrived in Lincoln Tuesday morning on their seasonal inspection of the system. Superintendent E. Flynn of Omaha accompanied them.

There is nothing new concerning the prospective depot at Lincoln, according to Mr. Bracken. Neither he nor Mr. Newton had heard if the matter had come up for consideration at Chicago.

Conditions everywhere seem to be good, and those at Lincoln a little better than the average, says Mr. Bracken.

"Everybody is talking prosperity, so it must be coming," he added.

The party spent Tuesday morning and afternoon inspecting the yards and shops in this vicinity. They went over the site for the new stock yards west of the city and looked over the round house, where extensive improvements will be made shortly. They leave early Wednesday morning for Denver to continue their inspection.

Mr. Farris is 49 years old and has lived in Lincoln 27 years. He was educated in the grade and high schools of Valentine, Neb., the Lincoln Business college, and received the degree of LL. B. from the La Salle university of Chicago. He started his business career as publisher of a county newspaper at Valentine. After coming to Lincoln he was employed in the operating department of the Burlington railroad; as chief accountant in an insurance office; as assistant to the clerk of the supreme court; as chief clerk in the office of the adjutant general. He was associated with W. J. Bryan as general superintendent in the office of The Commoner for eighteen years ,or until that publication was discontinued by reason of W. J. Bryan moving to Florida. He was purchasing agent for the state of Nebraska during the administration of Governor Bryan.

Mr. Farris took an active part in the movements to amend the city charter to allow the city to establish the municipal coal yard and gasoline filling station.

Discussing city affairs Mr. Farris said:

"If Lincoln is to grow and prosper it must be a desirable place in which to live. If we are to have a city of happy and contented people, we must have comfortable homes and attractive surroundings. We must have clean amusements and sports, a clean city government, and a clean city generally.

"The extension and development of the park system, with good music and wholesome out-door amusements will materially help to make our city attractive.

"New industries and enterprises, to furnish employment for our people, should be encouraged in every legitimate way.

"The securing of an adequate water supply is a pressing problem, and must be met and solved at an early date.

"By the united and harmonious effort of all Lincoln people, under the intelligent leadership of the city council, we can and will secure a union depot, as well as the other enterprises and industries so necessary to insure the continued growth and prosperity of our city."

CHURCH ROW IS HEARD IN COURT

The St. John's Evangelical church row in which two factions of the congregation are arrayed is up for legal settlement before Judge Mason Wheeler in District court.

Jacob Reichert, George Groh and John Klein, trustees of the church, have brought action against Rev. August W. Saremba, the pastor, Henry Burbach and Alex Bauer to determine ownership of church property. The charge is made that the minister is not in sympathy with the Evangelical faith but has been expounding Lutheran doctrine.

Members of the two factions packed the courtroom Tuesday at the start of the trial.

When Alex Reichert, first witness for the plaintiff group was sworn in order to identify the church constitution and by-laws in original German and the American translation, a new method of emphasizing the oath was introduced into district court. He was sworn with his left hand on a Bible.

W. B. Comstock is attorney for the defense and Frank Boehmer for the plaintiff.

ATHLETIC BODY BARS DEMPSEY

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 24.—The New York state athletic commission on today placed Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, on the ineligible list in this state for their failure to reply satisfactorily to the commission's recent ultimation that Dempsey accept a challenge from Harry Wills.

The boxing board's action was taken, a statement explained, because of the failure of Kearns and Dempsey "to comply with the rules governing championship bouts."

Dempsey could not be suspended because he holds no license in this state, but his ineligibility will mean that he cannot receive a license to box in New York until he had readjusted his relations with the committee.

Optional Potato Inspection Measure Now Through Both Branches.

Four per cent is established as the maximum rate of interest which state banks in Nebraska will be permitted to pay on time deposits by the action of the house Tuesday [illegible] so provides The vote on third reading was 62 to 27

Originally the bill fixed April 1 1926 as the time when the 4 per cent limit should go into effect. This feature has been cut out and unless it is restored in conference the new provision will be in force three months after final adjournment of the legislature The house added a paragraph allowing more than 4 per cent to be paid where the state trade and commerce committee gives his consent The object of this exception is to meet national bank competition

Since the guaranty law was passed in 1909 state banks have been allowed to pay as high as 5 per cent interest S F 60 not only cuts 1 per cent off this maximum rate but forbids any evasion of the law through a bank officer s agreeing to pay more than 4 per cent as a personal transaction

Storm Clouds Break With Hail and Rain

Muggy heat threatening skies and high wind Monday on the twelfth anniversary of the big Omaha tornado caused much apprehension among residents here

The storm that finally broke at 5 o clock however contained only hail and rain No damage was done by the ice pellets Though their size was large enough to have resulted in some harm there was no wind accompanying the storm Many autos were parked with drivers inside waiting for the skies to clear before proceeding

At 2 o clock the thermometer registered the greatest heat of the year 81 degrees and persons began telephoning about the expected storm The weather bureau was deluged with inquiries all afternoon and after the clouds had passed here newspapers were frequently asked if the real storm had not struck a few miles distant.

Thomas Blair the government meteorologist states that conditions at the time of the Omaha storm were much more tense than they were Monday Barometric pressure was lower and other circumstances were more favorable toward the formation of a tornado

The high wind that blew most of the day did damage here and there to telephone and telegraph wires but no serious damage was reported

The larger reductions were accomplished by striking off the $135 800 provision to take care of the expenses of the 1927 legislature and by reducing the estimated amount of fees to be received from the 2½ per cent of auto registration fees which go to the state from $258 943 17 to $150 000 This amount was previously estimated at 3½ per cent

SPANISH WOMAN TALKS ON DRESS

Senora Isabel de Palencia Tells Of Costumes Worn In Spain.

American Association Of University Women Sponsors Address.

Personal adornment is the basis of asthetic taste according to Senora de Palencia who lectured at the high school Monday evening The first part of the address was illustrated with slides following which a few of Senora de Palencia s collection of specimens of artistic [illegible] els The lecture was a delightful combination of comment on Spanish dress and bits of national folk lore and tradition

The Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women sponsored the address and Mrs A E Sheldon introduced the speaker The high school auditorium was comfortably filled and the audience was generous with applause

Senora de Palencia stressed the importance of the shawl in a Spanish woman s costume and illustrated the manner in which the different kinds of shawls are worn Both the shawls and gowns displayed were of the most striking beauty

The national costume is the first manifestation of a peoples taste she declared and it is only by the development of taste for rythm line and color in dress that appreciation of art can be made wide spread In her opinion it is the beauty of the costumes seen at the bull fights that is responsible for much of their gaiety and popularity

The slides showed the peculiarities of the costumes worn in various sections of Spain many of which differ radically both in respect to dress and customs Senora de Palencia is from Madrid but has made a careful study of the manner of dress in each district and she pointed out the distinctive features of each type

In speaking of the odd customs that still prevail in the rural districts she told of some of those related to marriage In one section it is customary for the bride to embroidery an elaborate and beautiful shirt for the groom before the wedding can take place In another district when a young man wishes to propose he can only do so in an indirect and formal manner In company with two other young men he calls on the young lady and holds a short conversation on any subject with her and the other members of the family In leaving he pretends to forget his cane The next morning he returns to the house and if the cane has been thrown out into the street he knows that his offer was rejected

A group of university girls served as models for the lecturer They were Arthella Gadd Katherine Everett Genevieve Clark Irma Otten and Emma Westermann

MARKHAM URGES NO INTERFERENCE

Says Transportation Problems Should Be Left To Commerce Commission.

(Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS La March 24—C H Markham president of the Illinois Central railroad in an address made public in connection with the opening session of the tenth annual meeting of the South Pine association here today said the transportation problem of the nation should be left to the interstate commerce commission without legislative interference

The threat of legislative tinkering with rates unsettles business and does a great deal of harm he asserted

Turning to the subject of lumber Mr Markham said the need for reforestration was acute pointing out that the United States consumes nearly half of the world s cut of timber and two fifth of all the forest products it produces

Dr John Wesley Hill chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial university of Harrogate Tenn told the lumbermen that Abraham Lincoln foresaw in his day the grave dangers of socialism and radicalism approaching upon America and left ample advice that he would not compromise with the questions were he alive yet there are 200 revolutionary publications in this country continually invoking Lincoln s words but in each the quotation is distorted and twisted to suit the pernicious principle involved

PROHIB PARTY PUT TO DEATH

Two calls of the house were needed late Monday afternoon to pass the Reed bill S F 232 which wipes out of existence the prohibition party in Nebraska through the lower branch of the legislature It encountered opposition from all but a few of the democratic members from the two progressives and a few republicans but was finally passed by a margin of 52 votes to 42 after Representative Sarah Muir had been called from her home to vote for it and Mr Stone Omaha democrat changed his vote from no to aye

The Reed measure provides that any political party failing to poll 5 per cent of the votes cast at a general election shall have no legal status thereafter nor be entitled to a party ballot at the next state primary Under the present law only 1 per cent is required

The house spent all Monday afternoon or third reading of bills and passed this burch

MORE TIME ON LICENSE BILL

Redraft of Measure Not Pleasing to Original Opponents.

Amended To Limit License Suspension Period to Six Months.

Another whirl was taken Tuesday morning by the representative assembly at the automobile drivers license bill H R 239 in its revised form but the redraft proved no more acceptable to its opponents than the original [illegible] members were wrangling as to whether the bill should be killed outright or made over again when the house took its noon recess

Mr O Malley renewed his motion of two or three days ago for indefinite postponement declaring that the substitute was just as bad as the bill first presented It would not protect life or limb he asserted nor would provide adequate punishment for any driver who carelessly run over and kill a child

An amendment by Mr Coulter limiting to three months the period for which a judge might suspend a driver s license after conviction for violating the law was the subject of vigorous debate It was finally changed to six months and adopted in that form

Mr Harrington criticised the bill because it proposed to license anyone who could pay the 25 cent fee without an examination as to his qualifications and without regard even as to whether or not he owned a car

Complaint was voiced by Mr Keck one of the two introducers that members were trying to kill the measure on technicalities However Mr Bock its other sponsor said it did not suit him exactly and on his suggestion it was laid over

Kills Transportation Bill

H R 237 allowing families in rural school districts transportation expense at the rate of 5 cents per day for each quarter mile above three miles traveled by their children in going to and from school, was slaughtered in committee of the whole Messrs Wilson Jensen and Reece explained that it was for the purpose of extending the compulsory school attendance law to cover these children some of who are not now in school and are growing up without an education The house was hard boiled notwithstanding

Mr Yochum succeeded in resurrecting two school bills from the morgue one of which makes members of school boards personally liable for money paid as salary to teachers who are not legally qualified They were placed on general file

The house voted to dig up the McGowan primary bill S F 110 from the grave to which it was consigned late Saturday for a specific amendment by which a person may be nominated if his name be written on a party primary ballot by 5 per cent of all the persons voting that ticket.

A resolution of respect and condolence on the death of Charles A Hedges at Indianola, on March 19 was unanimously adopted Mr Hedges served in the house in 1919

Appreciation of the entertainment given by the Kiwanis club of Lincoln at its luncheon last week when the legislators were its guests, was expressed in another resolution

Tense Excitement In Court

LONDON March 24 — Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned nor hell no fury like a woman scorned These words of Congreve were cited by Judge McCardie, who is a bachelor in summing up Monday the evidence in the suit of Mrs Ian Onslow Dennistoun against her former husband Lieut Colonel Dennistoun for money she alleged he borrowed from her There was tense excitement in the court room as the judge delivered his address

I have found the view said Judge McCardle that Mrs Dennistoun is one of the most adroit and most ingenious wits I have seen in thirty years and if she invented a claim against Colonel Dennistoun whether for maintenance or otherwise she would be one of the most dangerous women I have ever seen. She has [illegible] composure a resolute will and a wonderful mastery of answer

Referring to the alleged agreement between Colonel Dennistoun and his former wife the judge said to the jury

You are asked to believe the vaguest agreements known to men was made as a definite legal bargain

Regarding Dennistoun he said his conduct was gravely to be condemned and scaded His conduct discredits him in a very great measure but though a man has been guilty of unmanliness such as that it might be that by reason of these very circumstances you ought to view the case with greater care

For Stagnation of Constipation

When You Feel Stale from Head to Foot as Result of Torpid Liver There's Nothing Equal to Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Most people just hate to take laxatives and usually wait until they feel so bad that only a violent purgative satisfies Such people would appreciate the action of Stuart s Calcium Wafers They have no drastic effect in fact they don t act like most laxatives Their main purpose is to stimulate the secretions that prevent headache pimples on the face bowel impactions accumulations in the blood and other conditions resulting from constipated bowels They are very small wafers and act without any of the usual violence of laxative drugs. But their action is remarkably thorough And what is of more importance their influence upon glandular secretions is such that in a few days you have not only gotten rid of constipation but you have eliminated its effects

Probably you eat too much and the liver may not handle normally the quantity and quality of the blood making material so it is deficient in bile. Stuart s Calcium Wafers induce a greater secretion and flow of this necessary element and you experience almost immediate relief from headache nausea, and the stale dragged out feeling that so often causes one to shuffle along as if half dead Get a 60 cent box of Stuart s Calcium Wafers at any drug store. CONSOLIDATION BILL APPROVED

change the provisions of such a charter

Senator Jeary following the passage of the bill by the house reiterated Tuesday morning his statement of several days ago that the act will not be binding upon the city of Lincoln until an amendment to the home rule charter has been submitted to the voters and adopted by them He agrees with City Attorney Peterson in this regard His merger bill Senator Jeary said merely makes it possible for the two offices to be united whenever the people of Lincoln take the action necessary to accomplish it

It appears probable therefore that the enactment of the Jeary consolidation bill in the form it was drawn will be productive of litigation and delays with the possibility that it may never become operative

Representatives McMaster and Munn were the two Lancaster members who voted no on S F 109 The bill was supoprted by Representatives Harrington Muir Egger and Becker of this county

FOUR PERCENT MAXIMUM RATE

House Passes Bill Fixing Interest Banks to Pay On Time Deposits.

Optional Potato Inspection Measure Now Through Both Branches.

Four per cent is established as the maximum rate of interest which state banks in Nebraska will be permitted to pay on time deposits, by the action of the house Tuesday in passing S. F. 60, which so provides. The vote on third reading was 62 to 27.

Originally, the bill fixed April 1, 1926, as the time when the 4 per cent limit should go into effect. This feature has been cut out, and unless it is restored in conference the new provision will be in force three months after final adjournment of the legislature. The house added a paragraph allowing more than 4 per cent to be paid where the state trade and commerce committee gives his consent. The object of this exception is to meet national bank competition.

Since the guaranty law was passed in 1909, state banks have been allowed to pay as high as 5 per cent interest. S. F. 60 not only cuts 1 per cent off this maximum rate but forbids any evasion of the law through a bank officer's agreeing to pay more than 4 per cent as a personal transaction.

Makes Potato Inspection Optional

Compulsory inspection of potatoes shipped in carload lots from producing points in Nebraska is abolished by S. F. 23, which passed the house Tuesday morning, 91 to 3. It will be optional with growers, shippers, sellers, buyers or carriers whether cargoes of tubes shall be inspected or not. The fee remains the same, $4 per car, to be paid by the person or corporation asking for the inspection.

Other bills passed by the house were:

S. F. 84—For classification of real estate when ordered by the commissioners or supervisors of any county, as a basis of assessment. Ayes, 68; nays, 25.

S. F. 109—Omaha city council empowered to order grading, macadamizing, graveling or paving not more than 6 blocks in length, to connect improved main thoroughfares. Ayes, 88; nays, 3.

Storm Clouds Break With Hail and Rain

Muggy heat. threatening skies and high wind Monday on the twelfth anniversary of the big Omaha tornado caused much apprehension among residents nere.

The storm that finally broke at 5 o'clock, however, contained only hail and rain. No damage was done by the ice pellets. Though their size was large enough to have resulted in some harm, there was no wind accompanying the storm. Many autos were parked with drivers inside, waiting for the skies to clear before proceeding.

At 2 o'clock, the thermometer registered the greatest heat of the year, 81 degrees, and persons began telephoning about the expected storm. The weather bureau was deluged with inquiries all afternoon, and after the clouds had passed here, newspapers were frequently asked if the real storm had not struck a few miles distant.

Thomas Blair, the government meteorologist, states that conditions at the time of the Omaha storm were much more tense than they were Monday. Barometric pressure was lower and other circumstances were more favorable toward the formation of a tornado.

The high wind that blew most of the day did damage here and there to telephone and telegraph wires but no serious damage was reported.

FEW REDUCTIONS IN MAIN BUDGET

Senate Cuts $26,000,000 Appropriation Bill By Only $214,503.

Final Action On Measure To Be Taken In Upper House Tuesday.

When the senate Monday afternoon completed its work on H. R. 329, the main budget bill, carrying approximately $26,000,000, excluding the Supreme court budget, the salaries bill and a number of deficiency bills, the grand total had been reduced only $214,503. Final action on the bill was to be taken Tuesday.

The larger reductions were accomplished by striking off the $135,800 provision to take care of the expenses of the 1927 legislature and by reducing the estimated amount of fees to be received from the 2½ per cent of auto registration fees, which go to the state, from $258,943.17 to $150,000. This amount was previously estimated at 3½ per cent.

Other reductions were of minor amounts ranging from $1,000 and $5,000.

Senator Scott of Red Willow succeeded in tacking on an extra $60,000 when the senate approved his request for this amount to be expended on a new girls' dormitory and a machine barn at the Curtis agricultural college.

An extra $50,000 was given the public works department for salaries. This amount however will be pair out of the receipts of the gasoline tax.

The state board of agriculture was granted $10,000 to pay for the removal of dirt from the excavations at the capitol to the fair grounds. Senators Purcell, Banning and Reed, members of the board, declared that if this dirt were given to the board it would save considerable money in the future which would have to be spent in buying dirt for filling low spots on the grounds.

Farm Products In 1924 Valued At 12 Billions

WASHINGTON, March 24—American farms produced $12,464,000,000 in 1924, according to estimates prepared by the tournament of agriculture, indicating an increase of $56,000,000 over 1923. The department attributed the increase to higher market values for certain crops, as contrasted with reduced values of livestock products.

Cereal accounted for $5,220,000,000, or 45.8 per cent of the total, compared with 39.8 per cent in 1923, corn was valued at $2,890,000,000, cotton at $1,701,000,000 and hay and forage at $1,733,000,000.

A decrease of $66,000,000 in the farm value of dairy products was noted by the survey, the gross value for the year being $2,586,148,000.

PAPERS CAUSE BLAZE

SPANISH WOMAN TALKS ON DRESS

Senora Isabel de Palencia Tells Of Costumes Worn In Spain.

American Association Of University Women Sponsors Address.

"Personal adornment is the basis of asthetic taste," according to Senora de Palencia, who lectured at the high school Monday evening. The first part of the address was illustrated with slides, following which a few of Senora de Palencia's collection of specimens of artistic gowns were displayed by local models. The lecture was a delightful combination of comment on Spanish dress and bits of national folk-lore and tradition.

The Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women sponsored the address and Mrs. A. E. Sheldon introduced the speaker. The high school auditorium was comfortably filled and the audience was generous with applause.

Senora de Palencia stressed the importance of the shawl in a Spanish woman's costume and illustrated the manner in which the different kinds of shawls are worn. Both the shawls and gowns displayed were of the most striking beauty.

The national costume is the first manifestation of a people's taste, she declared, and it is only by the development of taste for rythm, line and color in dress that appreciation of art can be made wide-spread. In her opinion, it is the beauty of the costumes seen at the bull fights that is responsible for much of their gaiety and popularity.

The slides showed the peculiarities of the costumes worn in various sections of Spain, many of which differ radically both in respect to dress and customs Senora de Palencia is from Madrid but has made a careful study of the manner of dress in each district and she pointed out the distinctive features of each type.

In speaking of the odd customs that still prevail in the rural districts she told of some of those related to marriage. In one section it is customary for the bride to embroidery an elaborate and beautiful shirt for the groom before the wedding can take place. In another district when a young man wishes to propose he can only do so in an indirect and formal manner. In company with two other young men he calls on the young lady and holds a short conversation on any subject with her and the other members of the family. In leaving, he pretends to forget his cane. The next morning he returns to the house and if the cane has been thrown out into the street he knows that his offer was rejected.

A group of university girls served as models for the lecturer. They were Arthella Gadd, Katherine Everett, Genevieve Clark, Irma Otten and Emma Westermann.

MARKHAM URGES NO INTERFERENCE

Says Transportation Problems Should Be Left To Commerce Commission.

(Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 24.—C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, in an address made public in connection with the opening session of the tenth annual meeting of the South Pine association here today, said the transportation problem of the nation should be left to the interstate commerce commission without legislative interference.

"The threat of legislative tinkering with rates unsettles business and does a great deal of harm," he asserted.

Turning to the subject of lumber, Mr. Markham said the need for reforestration was acute, pointing out that the United States consumes nearly half of the world's cut of timber and two-fifth of all the forest products it produces.

Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial university of Harrogate, Tenn., told the lumbermen that Abraham Lincoln foresaw in his day the grave dangers of socialism and radicalism approaching upon America and left ample advice that he would not compromise with the questions were he alive, yet there are 200 revolutionary publications in this country "continually invoking Lincoln's words, but in each the quotation is distorted and twisted to suit the pernicious principle involved."

After four years here as a principal, Miss Moore went to Columbia university as an instructor in the teachers' college, and for the last four years had been principal of the Woodland schools at Kansas City.

She was a charter member of Temple chapter No. 371, O. E. S., and was a member of the Kappa Delta Pi sorority.

Funeral services will be held at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday at Wadlow's chapel. Rev. B. M. Nyce will have charge. The body will be taken to Holdrege for further services and burial.

PROHIB PARTY PUT TO DEATH

Two calls of the house were needed late Monday afternoon to pass the Reed bill, S .F. 232, which wipes out of existence the prohibition party in Nebraska, through the lower branch of the legislature. It encountered opposition from all but a few of the democratic members, from the two progressives and a few republicans, but was finally passed by a margin of 52 votes to 42, after Representative Sarah Muir had been called from her home to vote for it and Mr. Stone, Omaha democrat, changed his vote from "no" to "aye."

The Reed mesure provides that any political party failing to poll 5 per cent of the votes cast at a general election shall have no legal status thereafter nor be entited to a party ballot at the next state primary. Under the present law, only 1 per cent is required.

The house spent all Monday afternoon on third reading of bills and passed this bunch:

Ross Hammond Visits Lincoln

Ross L. Hammond of Riverside, Cal., was in Lincoln afew hours Tuesday, following a visit of two weeks at his old home in Fremont, where he was editor and owner of the Fremont Tribune for many years before going to California about four years ago. While here he visited the new capitol building.

Mr. Hammond says that conditions on the Pacific coast are unusually good, especially at Los Angeles. Bank clearings, postal receipts and building operations are as heavy as they ever were in the history of the city, he said.

Speaking of Nebraska, Mr. Hammond stated that he believes the state has again come into its own and that a full measure of prosperity is its lot. Especially did he believe good times were at hand for the smaller cities.

Collect $569 For Aid Fund

Work of receiving contributions for disaster relief for sufferers in the Illinois tornado was well under way at noon today and reports made to Thomas C. Woods, chairman of the Red Cross committee showed that $569.04 had been collected. About half of this is represented on small sums donated to workers in the stores Monday.

Mr. Wood said that he had hopes of raising the quota the committee had set and was pressing ahead with the work. None of those in charge of the several office buildings had reported at noon, he said.

MORE TIME ON LICENSE BILL

Redraft of Measure Not Pleasing to Original Opponents.

Amended To Limit License Suspension Period to Six Months.

Another whirl was taken Tuesday morning by the representative assembly at the automobile drivers' license bill, H. R. 239, in its revised form; but the redraft proved no more acceptable to its opponents than the original measure. Members were wrangling as to whether the bill should be killed outright, or made over again, when the house took its noon recess.

Mr. O'Malley renewed his motion of two or three days ago for indefinite postponement, declaring that the substitute was just as bad as the bill first presented. It would not protect life or limb, he asserted, nor would provide adequate punishment for any driver who carelessly run over and kill a child.

An amendment by Mr. Coulter, limiting to three months the period for which a judge might suspend a driver's license after conviction for violating the law, was the subject of vigorous debate. It was finally changed to six months and adopted in that form.

Mr. Harrington criticised the bill because it proposed to license anyone who could pay the 25 cent fee, without an examination as to his qualifications and without regard even as to whether or not he owned a car.

Complaint was voiced by Mr Keck, one of the two introducers, that members were trying to kill the measure on technicalities. However, Mr. Bock, its other sponsor, said it did not suit him exactly and on his suggestion it was laid over.

Kills Transportation Bill.

H. R. 237, allowing families in rural school districts transportation expense at the rate of 5 cents per day for each quarter mile, above three miles, traveled by their children in going to and from school, was slaughtered in committee of the whole. Messrs. Wilson, Yensen, and Reece explained that it was for the purpose of extending the compulsory school attendance law to cover these children, some of who are not now in school and are growing up without an education. The house was hard-boiled, notwithstanding.

Mr. Yochum succeeded in resurrecting two school bills from the morgue, one of which makes members of school boards personally liable for money paid as salary to teachers who are not legally qualified. They were placed on general file.

The house voted to dig up the McGowan primary bill, S. F. 110, from the grave to which it was consigned late Saturday, for a specific amendment by which a person may be nominated if his name be written on a party primary ballot by 5 per cent of all the persons voting that ticket.

A resolution of respect and condolence on the death of Charles A. Hedges at Indianola, on March 19, was unanimously adopted. Mr. Hedges served in the house in 1919.

Appreciation of the entertainment given by the Kiwanis club of Lincoln at its luncheon last week, when the legislators were its guests, was expressed in another resolution.

most important questions in the case was whether there had been any consideration other than a courteous and affectionate desire by the defendant to help if he could, which could not be binding in a British court.

Tense Excitement In Court.

LONDON, March 24. — "Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned, nor hell no fury like a woman scorned." These words of Congreve were cited by Judge McCardie, who is a bachelor, in summing up Monday the evidence in the suit of Mrs. Ian Onslow Dennistoun against her former husband, Lieut. Colonel Dennistoun, for money she alleged he borrowed from her. There was tense excitement in the courtroom as the judge delivered his address.

"I have found the view," said Judge McCardie, "that Mrs. Dennistoun is one of the most adroit and most ingenious wits I have seen in thirty years, and if she invented a claim against Colonel Dennistoun, whether for maintenance or otherwise, she would be one of the most dangerous women I have ever seen. She has a quick brain, absolute self composure, a resolute will and a wonderful mastery of answer."

Referring to the alleged agreement between Colonel Dennistoun and his former wife, the judge said to the jury:

"You are asked to believe the vaguest agreements known to men was made as a definite legal bargain."

Regarding Dennistoun, he said his conduct was "gravely to be condemned," and added: "His conduct discredits him in a very great measure, but though a man has been guilty of unmanliness such as that, it might be that by reason of these very circumstances you ought to view the case with greater care."

For Stagnation of Constipation

When You Feel Stale from Head to Foot as Result of Torpid Liver There's Nothing Equal to Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Most people just hate to take laxatives and usually wait until they feel so bad that only a violent purgative satisfies. Such people would appreciate the action of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They have no drastic effect, in fact they don't act like most laxatives. Their main purpose is to stimulate the secretions that prevent headache, pimples on the face, bowel impactions, accumulations in the blood and other conditions resulting from constipated bowels. They are very small wafers and act without any of the usual violence of laxative drugs. But their action is remarkably thorough. And what is of more importance, their influence upon glandular secretions is such that in a few days you have not only gotten rid of constipation but you have eliminated its effects.

Probably you eat too much and the liver may not handle, normally, the quantity and quality of the blood-making material, so it is deficient in bile. Stuart's Calcium Wafers induce a greater secretion and flow of this necessary element and you experience almost immediate relief from headache, nausea, and the stale, dragged-out feeling that so often causes one to shuffle along as if half-dead. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store. Use them ten days and you will feel like a winner.

A convincing free sample package will be sent to you by return mail if you send your name and address to F. A Stuart Co., 660 Stuart Bldg, Marshall, Mich.

change the provisions of such a charter.

Senator Jeary, following the passage of the bill by the house, reiterated Tuesday morning his statement of several days ago that the act will not be binding upon the city of Lincoln until an amendment to the home rule charter has been submitted to the voters and adopted by them. He agrees with City Attorney Peterson in this regard. His merger bill, Senator Jeary said, merely makes it possible for the two offices to be united whenever the people of Lincoln take the action necessary to accomplish it.

It appears probable, therefore, that the enactment of the Jeary consolidation bill in the form it was drawn will be productive of litigation and delays, with the possibility that it may never become operative.

Representatives McMaster and Munn were the two Lancaster members who voted "no" on S. F. 109. The bill was supoprted by Representatives Harrington, Muir, Egger, and Becker of this county.

MISS ELLINGSON AGAIN COMPOSED

Girl Slayer Who Fainted In Court Monday Is Fully Recovered.

Results Of First Day Of Jury Picking Satisfy Young Defendant.

(Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Dorothy Ellingson, the 16-year-old stenographer who shot her mother to death in the morning and danced and drank herself away from remorse at a house party that night, today came into court fully composed after her fall to the floor in a faint at the noon recess yesterday of her trial on a charge of murder.

Miss Ellingson yesterday saw six jurors picked to pass on her fate. Five men and a woman were selected.

The 16-year-old matricide had hoped for a jury of elderly men and the result yesterday was to her liking as only one woman was passed temporarily.

The Juvenile court, which had first jurisdiction over Miss Ellingson, passed the case on to the Superior court. The maximum sentence Miss Ellingson faces for her act is life imprisonment. The young defendant has legal and moral protection against hanging. A California law forbids hanging persons under 18 years. California citizens have always opposed the hanging of women of any age.

Insanity Plea Ready.

When the jury is completed defense counsel will advance the plea that Miss Ellingson is suffering from a mental condition bordering on insanity. The girl has confessed to the killing. She has told of the quarrel with her mother over new dresses and undesirable acquaintances to whom her mother objected; of the argument which led to the fatal shot and of taking all the money in the house and walking away over her dead parent's body to renew the companionship of men friends.

Before Dorothy killed her mother the Ellingson home stood divided because of the daughter's activities. Her father had left after a disagreement with her mother when Ellingson objected to the hours and company the girl was keeping. Mrs. Ellingson defended her daughter. His wife dead, his daughter in jail, the father was in court yesterday and caressed his girl when she was led in for trial. Beside him stood his son.

After Miss Ellingson's arrest he refused to permit her to attend the funeral of her mother, but he now hopes for some mitigating circumstances which may save his daughter from a felon's cell.

AID MATTER UP AT SESSION HERE

Local Legion Explains Views On Distribution Of State Fund.

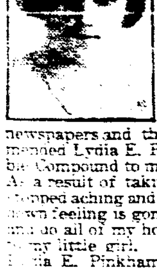
Following discussion of methods in distributing the state aid fund for ex-service men Lincoln Post No. 3, American Legion, Monday night voted to send three committeemen, headed by District Judge Mason Wheeler to give the local Legionnaires' viewpoint before the all-day subcommittee meeting Tuesday in the office of the state adjutant in the Richards building.

The Lincoln post has been widely quoted as opposing the payment of any part of the fund for an officer to distribute the money, but the sentiment as developed at Monday night's meeting was for co-operation in order to get the matter cleared up.

John E. Curtiss, a member of the subcommittee, which is to conduct a hearing so as to arrive at recommendations in handling the matter, spoke at length at the meeting Monday night. His functions with the committee are judicial and he will not represent the local attitude for which the Wheeler committee was chosen. According to Curtiss, it has been planned to take statements made at the hearing verbatim for record and to aid in arriving at conclusions. This led to the appointment of the Lincoln committee by Walt Roberts, acting commander. Commander W. L. Cummings has been ill with a bad cold and was unable to attend the meeting.

Means of meeting the exigency in distribution of the state fund were recommended to the committee after the final debate on the subject Monday night. Four hundred and forty claims were heard in January with $18,000 to be distributed late in February. The fund is almost exhausted for the fiscal year which ends in July.

A xylophone and piano program by A. R. Ecclesfield and H. E. Carson, and report on the Legion vaudeville show by Neil Brown, general chairman, were given with short talks on the necessity for backing the Legion film "Nebraska Under Fire," which will be shown in Lincoln for a week in April.



WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I had a bearing down feeling all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters from women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Dawes Is Preparing Important Speeches

CHICAGO, March 24.—Vice president and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes returned to their home in Evanston Monday. Mr. Dawes' immediate plans are indefinite, except that he intends to gather up loose ends of business matters from now until the early part of next week. Until his departure for Boston April 17, with Mrs. Dawes, he said he would simply lead the life of a private citizen.

He is scheduled to make two important addresses next month, the first in Boston April 17, at the Sequi-Centennial memorial of the ride of Paul Revere, to be held in the old North Church, Boston and the second before the annual meeting of the Associated Press in New York April 21. Two days later he will be the guest of the Gridiron club at Washington at the club's annual banquet.

RECONSTRUCTION IN STORM AREA GOES FORWARD

Carpenters Busily At Work On Hundreds Of New Dwellings.

Danger Of Epidemics Lessened—Relief Fund Drive Continues.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, March 24.—Southern Illinois and Indiana and other states in the path of last Wednesday's tornado hummed with industry today as the work of rebuilding progressed.

Warm, sunny weather prevailed in most of the stricken territory as carpenters plied hammer and saw on the hundreds of new dwellings and relief workers continued to give aid and comfort to thousands of injured and homeless.

Danger of epidemics was lessened today as sanitary measures were advanced. The water supply in every affected community was watched and a supply of diphtheria anti-toxin was rushed to Carbondale, the relief center.

Doctors and nurses reported the sanitation situation much improved and that favorable conditions of the weather had greatly decreased fear of any extended outbreak of disease.

The drive for relief funds continued throughout the country, with totals increasing hourly. Chicago expected to raise its quota of $500,000 within forty-eight hours. Another $500,000 was provided when the Illinois legislature passed an emergency relief bill.

From Washington it was announced that co-ordination of efforts to raise funds had been effected by the chamber of commerce of the United States and the Red Cross through commercial organizations which would turn over to the Red Cross units all contributions.

LA FAYETE, La.—Arthur Newby, white, fireman, on the Texas Limited, which crashed into the California Express on the Southern Pacific railroad Sunday, did not die as reported of injuries in the wreck, but is in a hospital at Franklin, La., and is expected to recover, it was announced here yesterday by officials of the Southern Pacific. They gave the complete death list as three whites and twelve negroes.

WADSWORTH TO QUIT HIS OFFICE

Assistant To Mellon Resigns —Not Provision For Successor.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Elliott Wadsworth of Boston, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of foreign loans and railroad advances, has submitted his resignation, but Secretary Mellon has not yet acted upon it.

Mr. Wadsworth left Washington several days ago for New Orleans with Senator James Wadsworth, jr., of New York and his decision to return to private life was confided to few officials or friends before his departure.

He was appointed to his present post by President Harding in March, 1921, and in addition to his supervision over foreign and railroad loans, he has exercised similar control over the public health service and acted as secretary of the World war foreign debt commission, of which Secretary Mellon is chairman.

Except that he desired to return to private life, friends and officials here last night said they were unable to give any idea of Mr. Wadsworth's plans. Administration leaders, meanwhile, had taken no steps looking toward selection of a successor.

The Lincoln post has been widely quoted as opposing the payment of any part of the fund for an officer to distribute the money, but the sentiment as developed at Monday night's meeting was for co-operation in order to get the matter cleared up.

John E. Curtiss, a member of the subcommittee, which is to conduct a hearing so as to arrive at recommendations in handling the matter, spoke at length at the meeting Monday night. His functions with the committee are judicial and he will not represent the local attitude for which the Wheeler committee was chosen. According to Curtiss, it has been planned to take statements made at the hearing verbatim for record and to aid in arriving at conclusions. This led to the appointment of the Lincoln committee by Walt Roberts, acting commander. Commander W. L. Cummins has been ill with a bad cold and was unable to attend the meeting.

Means of meeting the exigency in distribution of the state fund were recommended to the committee after the final debate on the subject Monday night. Four hundred and forty claims were heard in January with $18,000 to be distributed late in February. The fund is almost exhausted for the fiscal year which ends in July.

A xylophone and piano program by A. R. Ecclesfield and H. E. Carson, and report on the Legion vaudeville show by Neil Brown, general chairman, were given with short talks on the necessity for backing the Legion film "Nebraska Under Fire," which will be shown in Lincoln for a week in April.

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I had a bearing down feeling all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters from women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Dawes Is Preparing Important Speeches

CHICAGO, March 24. — Vice president and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes returned to their home in Evanston Monday. Mr. Dawes' immediate plans are indefinite, except that he intends to gather up loose ends of business matters from now until the early part of next week. Until his departure for Boston April 17, with Mrs. Dawes, he said he would simply lead the life of a private citizen.

He is scheduled to make two important addresses next month, the first in Boston April 17, at the Sequi-Centennial memorial of the ride of Paul Revere, to be held in the old North Church, Boston and the second before the annual meeting of the Associated Press in New York April 21. Two days later he will be the guest of the Gridiron club at Washington at the club's annual banquet.

RECONSTRUCTION IN STORM AREA GOES FORWARD

Carpenters Busily At Work On Hundreds Of New Dwellings.

Danger Of Epidemics Lessened—Relief Fund Drive Continues.

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 24.—Southern Illinois and Indiana and other states in the path of last Wednesday's tornado hummed with industry today as the work of rebuilding progressed.

Warm, sunny weather prevailed in most of the stricken territory as carpenters plied hammer and saw on the hundreds of new dwellings and relief workers continued to give aid and comfort to thousands of injured and homeless.

Danger of epidemics was lessened today as sanitary measures were advanced. The water supply in every affected community was watched and a supply of diphtheria anti-toxin was rushed to Carbondale, the relief center.

Doctors and nurses reported the sanitation situation much improved and that favorable conditions of the weather had greatly decreased fear of any extended outbreak of disease.

The drive for relief funds continued throughout the country, with totals increasing hourly. Chicago expected to raise its quota of $500,000 within forty-eight hours. Another $500,000 was provided when the Illinois legislature passed an emergency relief bill.

From Washington it was announced that co-ordination of efforts to raise funds had been effected by the chamber of commerce of the United States and the Red Cross through commercial organizations which would turn over to the Red Cross units all contributions.

LA FAYETE, La.—Arthur Newby, white, fireman, on the Texas Limited, which crashed into the California Express on the Southern Pacific railroad Sunday, did not die as reported of injuries in the wreck, but is in a hospital at Franklin, La., and is expected to recover, it was announced here yesterday by officials of the Southern Pacific. They gave the complete death list as three whites and twelve negroes.

Richard Oddie, chef de gare, announced Tuesday that the dinner would be held at the Lindell hotel at 6:30 o'clock. Reservations for about forty are being made. The speakers will include Walter Anderson and Judge Chappell.

The "wrecking crew," will take charge of the candidates in the auditorium after the dinner and administer the initiatory requirements.

WADSWORTH TO QUIT HIS OFFICE

Assistant To Mellon Resigns —Not Provision For Successor.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Elliott Wadsworth of Boston, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of foreign loans and railroad advances, has submitted his resignation, but Secretary Mellon has not yet acted upon it.

Mr. Wadswoth left Washington several days ago for New Orleans with Senator James Wadsworth, jr., of New York and his decision to return to private life was confided to few officials or friends before his departure.

He was appointed to his present post by President Harding in March, 1921, and in addition to his supervision over foreign and railroad loans, he had asserted similar control over the public health service and acted as secretary of the World war foreign debt commission, of which Secretary Mellon is chairman.

Except that he desired to return to private life, friends and officials here last night said they were unable to give any idea of Mr. Wadsworth's plans. Administration leaders, meanwhile, had taken no steps looking toward selection of a successor.

DEPORTED PRINCE HELD AT LONDON

Self Styled Emir Of Kurdestan Arrested Upon His Arrival.

LIVERPOOL, March 24.—The self-styled emir of Kurdestan, Prince Zerdecheno Mohammed Said, deported from the United States, was arrested upon his arrival here today and held pending instructions from the home secretary.

The police acted at the direction of the immigration authorities, who say the "emir's" title is a bogus one; that his name and career are well known. The "emir" answered the questions of the police readily enough and did not protest his arrest.

During the trans-Atlantic voyage, it is said, he did not mix with the other passengers. He fore a gorgeous uniform at the dinner table.

"Prince Zerdecheno," who sometimes refers to himself as "pretender to the Turkish caliphate," has been known to the police of various countries as J. Albert Bronson, Said Ben Abdullah and Humidie Ashered Ali. He has served time in Paris and London for various frauds.

He was deported from the United States when federal authorities found him traveling on a passport, the authenticity of which was questioned, purported to have been issued by the Turkish government.

Zerdecheno caused a sensation in Washington a few years ago when as "Majordomo of the Princess Fatima of Egypt," he was received by President Harding.

Plan Prosecution Of Police Officers

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Prosecution of forty-eight policemen indicted on charges of prohibition law violations was discussed at a conference today between United States Attorney Mau of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general.

It has not been determined whether Mrs Willebrandt will go to Cincinnati to assist in trial of the cases. Mr. Mau was understood to have suggested that she participate in the prosecution but she took the position that further developments must govern her decision.

Egypt Acts Independently.

PARIS, March 24.—Although Great Britain is supposed to control Cairo's foreign policy, independent action by the Egyptian government developed today. It forwarded to the League of Nations the ratification signed by King Fuad of the League of Nations convention for the simplification of customs formalities. This is the first case of an Egyptian ratification filed independently by Egypt with the league.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT OF MATINEE MUSICALE.

A varied and interesting program was presented Monday afternoon at the Temple theater as the three hundred and sixty-sixth afternoon concert of the Matinee Musicale.

Mrs. M C Lefler opened the program with a delightful song group composed of unusual numbers. Scott's "Holiday" was a most attractive number, and "The Nile" by Leroux, with a 'cello obligato played by Helen Mueller, was very lovely.

The scene from La Boheme, sung by Wyatt Hunter and Leota Coombs, was an unusual departure from the regular trend of Matinee Musicale programs, and was especially interesting for that reason. Mr. Hunter possesses a splendid tenor voice and his interpretation of Rudolph was very good. Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond was the accompanist for this scene, and Mrs. Arthur Gutzmer, stage director.

The Concerto in G minor, op. 22, by Saint-Saens, presenter by Edith Burlingim Ross at the piano, and the University of Nebraska orchestra under the direction of William P. Quick, was the high spot of the program. Mrs. Ross played with brilliance, her technique and interpretation left nothing wanting, and with the orchestra as a background the concerto was exceptionally beautiful.

Simple Home Mixture Darkens Gray Hair

Cincinnati Barber Tells How Any One Can Prepare It in 5 Minutes

Any man or woman can easily look twenty years younger, by simply darkening their gray, faded, or streaky hair. This is now easy to accomplish with a recipe given by a well known Cincinnati barber.

Simply take a half-pint of water, add one ounce of bay rum, 1-4 ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound. Shake and it is ready to use. These ingredients can be bought at drug stores at trifling cost.

Applied to the hair twice weekly this deilghtful mixture quickly gives the desired shade. It is easy to use, is not sticky or greasy, will not color the scalp and does not rub off.—Advertisement.

DEPORTED PRINCE HELD AT LONDON

Self Styled Emir Of Kurdestan Arrested Upon His Arrival.

LIVERPOOL, March 24.—The self-styled emir of Kurdestan, Prince Zerdecheno Mohammed Said, deported from the United States, was arrested upon his arrival here today and held pending instructions from the home secretary.

The police acted at the direction of the immigration authorities, who say the "emir's" title is a bogus one; that his name and career are well known. The "emir" answered the questions of the police readily enough and did not protest his arrest.

During the trans-Atlantic voyage, it is said, he did not mix with the other passengers. He fore a gorgeous uniform at the dinner table.

"Prince Zerdecheno," who sometimes refers to himself as "pretender to the Turkish caliphate," has been known to the police of various countries as J. Albert Bronson, Said Ben Abdullah and Humidie Ashered Ali. He has served time in Paris and London for various frauds.

He was deported from the United States when federal authorities found him traveling on a passport, the authenticity of which was questioned, purported to have been issued by the Turkish government.

Zerdecheno caused a sensation in Washington a few years ago when as "Majordomo of the Princess Fatima of Egypt," he was received by President Harding.

Plan Prosecution Of Police Officers

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Prosecution of forty-eight policemen indicted on charges of prohibition law violations was discussed at a conference today between United States Attorney Mau of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general.

It has not been determined whether Mrs. Willebrandt will go to Cincinnati to assist in trial of the cases. Mr. Mau was understood to have suggested that she participate in the prosecution but she took the position that further developments must govern her decision.

Egypt Acts Independently.

PARIS, March 24.—Although Great Britain is supposed to control Cairo's foreign policy, independent action by the Egyptian government developed today. It forwarded to the League of Nations the ratification signed by King Fuad of the League of Nations convention for the simplification of customs formalities. This is the first case of an Egyptian ratification filed independently by Egypt with the league.

EX-EMPRESS BETTER.

BRUSSELS, March 24.—Former Empress Charlotte, who is ill with influenza, passed a good night. Her cough has diminished.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT OF MATINEE MUSICALE.

A varied and interesting program was presented Monday afternoon at the Temple theater as the three hundred and sixty-sixth afternoon concert of the Matinee Musicale.

Mrs. M. C. Lefler opened the program with a delightful song group composed of unusual numbers. Scott's "Holiday" was a most attractive number, and "The Nile" by Leroux, with a 'cello obligato played by Helen Mueller, was very lovely.

The scene from La Boheme, sung by Wyatt Hunter and Leota Coombs, was an unusual departure from the regular trend of Matinee Musicale programs, and was especially interesting for that reason. Mr. Hunter possesses a splendid tenor voice and his interpretation of Rudolph was very good. Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond was the accompanist for this scene, and Mrs. Arthur Gutzmer, stage director.

The Concerto in G minor, op. 22, by Saint-Saens, presenter by Edith Burlingim Ross at the piano, and the University of Nebraska orchestra under the direction of William P. Quick, was the high spot of the program. Mrs. Ross played with brilliance, her technique and interpretation left nothing wanting, and with the orchestra as a background the concerto was exceptionally beautiful.

Cincinnati Barber Tells How Any One Can Prepare It in 5 Minutes

Any man or woman can easily look twenty years younger, by simply darkening their gray, faded, or streaky hair. This is now easy to accomplish with a recipe given by a well known Cincinnati barber.

Simply take a half-pint of water, add one ounce of bay rum, 1-4 ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound. Shake and it is ready to use. These ingredients can be bought at drug stores at trifling cost.

Applied to the hair twice weekly this deilghtful mixture quickly gives the desired shade. It is easy to use, is not sticky or greasy, will not color the scalp and does not rub off.—Advertisement.

hTe ministed points out that this total of 13,000 provides a public house for every 230 people in the Free State.

Mr. O'Higgins describes the figures as startlnig and as warranting a searching investigation into the social and economic effects of such a plethora of licensed premises.

Municipal Fight On At Bridgeport Spirited Contest

(Special to The Star.)

BRIDGEPORT, Neb., March 24.—What threatened to be a listless city election in Bridgeport has developed into a spirited contest between the progressive and citizens parties.

With two councilmen and two members of the school board to elect and a $60,000 school house bond position to vote upon, indications now are that there will be almost a full vote polled on April 7.

While opponents of the bonds are numerous, they are not making an open fight, but friends of the two sets of candidates are actively engaged fighting for their favorites. The progressive party, now in control of city affairs, is making a campaign upon its record of efficiency and economy and has nominated A. D. Young and Ben Dunlap, for the council, and Z. H. Jones and Thurlow Thompson for the school board. The citizens party has put up J. S. Miller, for the council, and Z. H. Jones and L. R. North, present directors, for the school board.

Money necessary to do this work was secured from members who took $10 bonds or notes, bearing no interest, and paid cash for them, with the understanding they would be held until redeemed. The camp has succeeded in redeeming all of them in one year, and is now entiriy free of debt, with some money in the treasury, and an active membership of 198 members.

Three Are Taken While Trying To Dispose Of Fowls

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., March 24. — Three strangers giving the names of Verlin Wuster, H. B. Tunison and John Schreiner and claiming Red Cloud as their home, were lodged in jail here yesterday. When picked up at Swift & Co.'s plant here the three men, traveling in two Ford touring cars, were attempting to dispose of a large number of mixed fowls.

The police received a telephone message from a farmer named Penner, living northwest of the city, to the effect that two autos entered his yard early yesterday morning, but quickly left in the direction of Beatrice. The officers took the cue and went to the Swift plant where the men were taken into custody. It is said they had already sold the chickens for $100, receiving a check. A farmer named Winkle was at the police station to identify Wuster and Tunison as the two men whom he chased off his farm recently when they attempted to raid his hen roost.

After Wuster's arrest, a complaint charging him with driving a car without a license was filed against him. Chief Acton has notified the sheriff at Red Cloud of the arrest of the men.

WASHBURN READY TO GIVE UP POST

U. S. Minister To Austria Tenders His Resignation.

(Associated Press)

VIENNA, March 24.—Albert H. Washburn has tendered his resignation as United States minister to Austria, he made known today.

Mr. Washburn, who was appointed in 1922 by President Harding, pointed out that it was customary for American diplomats to place their posts at the disposal of the president in cases of a change at the white house, regardless whether they were also inspired by private considerations or not.

To Be Accepted.

WASHINGTON, March 24. — Indications here are that the resignation of Minister Washburn would be accepted. It is one of several received by President Coolidge at the time of his inauguration and which he now has before him for consideration and selection of new appointees.

J. Butler Wright, assistant secretary of state, has been suggested for the Vienna appointment. He has had long service in the state department and in various European diplomatic posts. He began his diplomatic career in 1908.

John Van A. MacMurray, the other assistant secretary of state, is being considered for appointment to the Peking ministry to succeed Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, appointed ambassador to Berlin.

Mr. Washburn is a lawyer by profession and once served as private secretary to the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Attorneys for "King" Benjamin and Mary Purnell and the House of David of Benton Harbor, yesterday paid into Federal District court here the sum of $26,704.33 covering a judgment of $24,078.08 interest and costs in favor of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hansel of Nashville, Tenn.

FIND POISON IN BODY OF MAN

Authorities Seek Motive For Slaying Of South Dakota Minister.

(Associated Press.)

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., March 24.—With the actions of the man himself before his death directly refuting the theory of suicide, authorities are hunting for a motive for murder by poison of the Rev. Robert E. Tarleton, in which body chemists of the state university announced Monday they had found poison.

Tarleton's body was found lying on the floor of his garage here the morning of January 29, last. Members of the minister's family found the body and it was at first believed Tarleton had succumbed to heart disease.

An autopsy, however, failed to show evidence of organic trouble and the stomach and contents were sent to the state laboratory at Vermillion for analysis.

Evidence on the morning the body was found indicated that he had spent some time in study, had carried in a hod of coal and then gone out to drain the radiator of his automobile when he fell dead.

Authorities says these actions indicated he had no intention to commit suicide.

State May Not Pay Expenses of Guard Officers

State Auditor Marsh may refuse to allow the traveling expense claims for half a dozen officers of the Nebraska national guard who went with Governor and Mrs. McMullen to Washington, attended the presidential inauguration March 4.

The fact that a few conferences may have been held at Washington with war department officials does not impress Mr. Marsh as justifying the trip at public expense.

The auditor's office received a bill of $6 for flowers a few days ago, which had been I. K.'d by officers of the state senate. Inquiry developed the fact that the senate had showed its regard for Governor McMullen and sent them to him when he was ill. The bill was allowed and paid.

ST. LOUIS —As a result of the death in Nice, France, of Sir W. Northrup McMillan, wealthy African hunter, word of which was received here yesterday, Washington university of St. Louis, will receive more than $1,000,000 for the establishment of a hospital to be known as the "McMillan Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat hospital."

Moving Mountain Shifts Again and Disrupts Traffic

MEEKER, Colo., March 24.—"Moving mountain," a chocolate drop shaped mountain on the road between Rifle and Meeker, has shifted again and Meeker was temporarily cut off from outside traffic Monday.

The movement began Sunday night and by yesterday the mountain had shifted seventy-five yards. About a quarter of a mile of the road was disturbed and traffic was blocked. The movement elevated the road about eleven feet.

The entire dome-like mass is moving toward the west, according to reports.

"Moving Mountain" has shifted several times since the first shift in 1909. Traffic between Rifle and Meeker cannot be resumed until the shifting stops. No cause for the movement has been assigned.

LONDON'S SCANDALS.

From London comes the report that the British parliament is manifesting concern over the series of scandals affecting high society which have been given an airing in recent months

Britain only last November kicked the Labor party out of control of the government after a brief tenure of office because of its flirtatious attitude toward the Soviet government and an inability to make good on the promises which it made to its own followers It returned the conservatives including an unusually large number of the nobility by the most substantial majority in the last twenty five years

No sooner had conservatism returned to the saddle than London was rocked by the revelations made public in the famous case of Mr X— a member of the nobility in India and heir to the throne of an extremely rich Indian province who was blackmailed out of $750 000 Hardly had the smoke of the Mr X case cleared away than a fresh sensation was added in the suit of Mrs Ian Onslow Dennistoun against her former husband Lieutenant Colonel Dennistoun for money which she claimed to have loaned him before her divorce Lieutenant Colonel Dennistoun is now the husband of Dowager Countess Carnarvon widow of the famous Egyptologist who furnished the funds for the exploration of King Tut s tomb The first Mrs Dennistoun claimed that her former husband had encouraged an improper relationship with the late Sir John Cowans in order to further the colonel s military ambitions

The Dennistoun case has revealed a state of affairs in high society which shocked parliament

And on top of this comes two more cases—one in which Mrs Muriel Waterhouse has brought suit against Sir David Wilson Baker Lady Wilson Baker and others in which the plaintiff charges that her husband who is now dead was mulcted for his fortune by Lady Wilson Baker under threat of the revelations of an illicit love affair The second case involves others of prominence in London it is said

The Laborites could want for nothing better than the scandals which have rocked London It is apple sauce for them If they needed any issue to attack the nobility it has been supplied them in the last few weeks Scandals of loose living in certain of the continental countries have been frequent But the Anglo Saxon in Britain has generally been free from it He has usually been a clean liver and devoted to his home and his family That is why parliament is now scratching its head and wondering what the next day will bring forth

The situation in Britain may be taken as indicative of the system Britain still clings tenaciously to its devotion to the rich and to the nobility It believes in the idle and the leisure class Yet idleness is at the bottom of this which now claims the attention of the British people

Here in America we have our rich but with few exceptions they are not the idle rich The luxuries which they enjoy are in the majority of cases the product of their own industry and ingenuity Most of the American business men are prodigious workers who occupy every minute and every hour of their time with the problems and the details of the business With few exceptions they have scant time for clandestine affairs and as a result America has few scandals of the disgusting character that have been dished up to the British people in recent months Work has its compensations in more ways than one Many times it serves to keep people out of mischief

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR IRELAND

The Cosgrave government in Ireland has won decisively over the de Valera faction in the recent by elections called to fill nine parliamentary vacancies This strengthens the existing regime and removes any prospect of a return to the unforunate conditions which prevailed several years ago when the country was torn by armed strife between bands of revolutionaries and the forces standing for the free state treaty

Even Eamonn de Valera erstwhile self styled president of Ireland and leader of the uncompromising republicans seems sufficiently impressed by the election results as to have abandoned his former militant attitude At one time he advocated forcible resistance to the free state government in order to accomplish complete separation from the British empire Chastened by successive defeats he now says that the people must be educated until a majority can be won to favor the setting up of a republican regime

The fact seems to be that Ireland has grown weary of contentious internal strife and its people desire an opportunity to pursue their various walks of life under peaceful and orderly conditions They realize no doubt that the development of their country has been held back by foolish political quarrels and insurrections

JAPAN'S ANNUAL FIRES

Enlightened and progessive as the people of Japan are in many ways they are just as backward and nonprogressive in many others and one of these is in the building and heating of their homes Attention is called to this fact by the disastrous fire which swept the slum district of Tokio last week destroying no less than three thousand houses Practically every year the cities of the Island Empire are visited by similar conflagrations and it seems certain that this condition will continue

Japanese cities especially in the residence sections are of tinder box construction the sides being of thin wood and the doors of tissue paper The floors are of soft matting while the roofs are of tile This latter affords some slight protection from the flying embers but once let a fire get a start especially with a good wind blowing and the toll is certain to be great The hazard is further added to by reason of the fact that heating is done by open charcoal braziers over which the inhabitants hover on cold winter nights The sun beats down on these flimsy structures during the summer drying them to tinder and when winter comes and the charcoal is lighted fires are certain to occur And practically every fire is a disaster The streets are narrow and flames leap from building to building with startling speed

After Tokio was destroyed by fire following the earthquake there was much talk of laying out the city on modern lines, with wider streets more room and better construction But little came of the talk. There are some good buildings in the business district but Japanese after living for a thousand years or more in the same kind of houses and with the same kind of heating facilities refused to make the change and the new Tokio is practically the same as the old

The fire departments in Japanese cities are very good and are supplied with modern equipment motor driven while the firemen are skilled in their work but as long as the houses are built as they are and heated in the same old manner the big annual fire is certain to occur Each fire company has its own fire god which must be carried to every fire and made comfortable before the fire fighting begins Great faith is placed in these

But fire loss is a great calamity and while most of them in Japan could be avoided by proper precautions the same statement applies to every other place in the world

More Truth Than Poetry

It always is a treat to me
Whenever any man
Who having reached prosperity
Explains his working plan
There s something in his solemnness
And innocent conceit
That makes his talk about success
And how he won a treat

I know a certain citizen
A self made millionaire
Who likes to tell his fellow men
The trick of getting there
Don t put within one basket all
Your eggs I ve heard him say
Because if you should let it fall
Your luck would ooze away

There is another who is rich
And easy to persuade
To dwell upon the rule by which
His fortune has been made
Be careful not to waste your shot
By scattering says he
It s concentration that has brought
My great success to me

It may be that they both are right
Perhap luck favored each
At all events they ve reached a height
That I shall never reach
The rules they have may be absurd
But it s a treat indeed
When any sober faced old bird
Explains how to succeed.

How We Go To Sleep

When we are in bed and ready to enjoy a nights rest the sequence of insensibilities is interesting and methodical

The muscles which move the arms and the legs usually become relaxed before the muscles that maintain the body in the most erect posture

In relation to the special senses that of sight is the first lost the eyelids forming a barrier between the retina and the external world Even if the eyelids were missing or could not be closed because of disease the sense of sight is the first one that is lost as sleep comes on Even animals that sleep with their eyes open have an abolition of the light sense during sleep

Taste is the next to disappear and then smell Hearing is next abolished and the sense of touch is the last to be obliterated

So conversely a person is most easily awakened by the sense of touch next in order by sounds and then by smell

The recumbent position has much to do with sleep While sleep may occur in the sitting posture and even while standing these cases are exceptional

It is certain also that sleep in bed is generally sounder with a low pillow than with a high one In cases of wakefulness in the night the head should be kept low and in undue sleepiness the head should be kept high

Although many people delight in bolstering up their heads at night and sleep soundly without injury the practice is to be discouraged The vessels in which the blood passes from the heart to the head are always lessened in their activities when the head is resting in bed higher than the body therefore in all disease attended with fever the head should be on a lever with the body

It is not best to sleep mainly on the back but to alternate and sleep occasionally on either side The right side is the better of the two because it leaves the action of the heart free and precludes the possibility of undue pressure on any of the large blood vessels The body will usually assume the position that is the best for that particular person

Mothers should be very careful of the position in which they put their babies Many a child s head has failed to develop symmetrically because of continued pressure on one side Just to turn a small baby at frequent intervals during the day and night will lessen its fretfulness because of the relief from continued pressure on the one side of the head

The University of Nebraska

Something Wrong At Lincoln
(Kearney Hub)

It will be necessary for Nebraska legislatures to change their attitude toward the higher institutions of learning—speaking of the state university and state teachers colleges—if we are to have a well rounded properly housed and efficiently equipped educational system which will compete with the systems of other states It does not follow that liberality is extravagance but it is barely possible that economy may be more properly termed parsimony

There has been a time not very far distant in the past, when our legislators showed a pride in the state s educational institutions and their constituents were alert and aggressive wherever there might be the least sign of disloyalty But legislators have become captious and constituents have become careless until now it is quite the rule for the responsible executives of those institutions to go begging to secure sufficient appropriations for bare maintenance

Appropriations for university and teachers colleges permit those institutions to exist with underpaid faculties and without sufficient funds during summer school seasons to employ teachers for these summer students Where buildings are needed to care for expansion they are denied Where added facilities are required they are ignored Where decent maintenance is rightfully expected they are compelled to go hungry

Probably the most important of all consideration at present is that of housing facilities Right here it is well to say that we have passed the piecemeal period when educational needs personal pride and business intelligence demand plans to cover certain periods and a survey of the work required in Nebraska should convince us that a ten year period is none too long Evidently this is what Nebraska educators thought when the incomparable sum of one eighth of a mill for the university and 1 20th of a mill for the teachers colleges was asked of the present legislature

These levies small as they are and meaning so little to the taxpayers of Nebraska would provide for well planned constructive work that would round out harmonize and beautify each of these educational plants and make them fit in every respect for the work in which they are engaged—not the work of presidents professors and preceptors but the work of every citizen of Nebraska. What any citizen thinks of educational methods is not at all in point. These are our schools We should not starve them any more than we would starve our children and no more disparage them than we would humiliate our own sons and daughters It is time that legislative baiting of our educational institutons should be made the most unpopular and hazardous pastime that members of the legislature can indulge in

The People's University
(The Omaha World Herald)

It is a very practical problem that is presented by the physical condition and needs of the University of Nebraska and one in which the people as a whole are vitally concerned We have a notion that had the university authorities carried that problem more directly to the people rather than concentrate upon the legislature it would be today nearer a satisfactory solution.

For the problem really is whether the university shall be continued as a school for all the people or shall be compelled to limit its services to a fortunate comparative few There can hardly be a reasonable doubt as to how the people would have that question answered

The university with its present housing and equipment is designed to take care of hardly more than half of its present large attendance Its overcrowded condition is due to the thirst for higher education that has seized upon every section and community of Nebraska The popular movement toward the university gates is but in its infancy Though it has grown fast it will grow faster What is the university to do? What is the state to do

* * *

The right thing the expedient thing the profitable thing is to deal fairly with all the young men and women of Nebraska clamoring for a state university education The only way to do that is to provide as economically as possible the buildings in which they and their instructors must assemble the equipment and facilities necessary to their use If that is not done then while many will be called few will be chosen And those who are rejected denied excluded will be shut out from rights and privileges that others no more deserving will be enjoying

That would be a jug handled system of state supported education, not to be justified except on the plea of poverty—that the people of Nebraska are unable to provide their young folks with the education they want And that s not true There may be many things Nebraska cannot afford—but the proper education of its youth is not one of them

Obviously the proper way to provide for university expansion is to do it systematically which requires an assured fund for building purposes until such time as the school will have caught up with its attendance The great plant is a unit and must be so regarded Its authorities in building it up must be enabled to be reasonably sure that the means will be forthcoming not merely for this year or next year but for a period of years Otherwise there will be lack of proportion in development together with relatively expensive development

The very best investment the people can make of their tax money is investment for education Its returns are sure Among the returns is a future state of certain greatness wealth and power The people understand that even if their legislature does not And if the legislature has been enabled to know just how well the people understand it then the legislature we are sure would not hesitate

The people of Nebraska are the best and most powerful friends the state university has If the university authorities would act with full faith in the light of that shining truth it would not need much longer to remain in a stunted and crippled condition

Proposes Debate

LINCOLN Neb March 23 —To the Editor of The Lincoln Star Will you please publish the following letter addressed to Mayor Zehrung Whereas, many of the voters of Lincoln believe that the present administration has in many respects failed in its duty to the public, and

Whereas there is to be a city election within a few weeks and the present mayor and three other of the present city commissioners are candidates for re election and

Whereas the people of Lincoln are entitled to know the truth about what has been going on in the city hall now

Therefore I hereby challenge Mayor Frank C Zehrung to debate the following questions jointly with me in public in a suitable hall or auditorium before the primary election April 7

Be it resolved

1—That the present city administration has not made any constructive effort to secure a union depot for Lincoln

2—That the present city administration has not made any effort to secure new industries for Lincoln

3—That the present city administration has not taken any definite action to secure a water supply adequate for the future needs of the city of Lincoln

4—That the present city administration has spent $5 700 of the people s money on preliminary zoning work for which the people have not received and are not likely to receive anything of value in return

5—That the present city commissioners have failed to co-operate to reduce the fire hazard and secure a lower fire insurance rate in Lincoln

6—That the present mayor as head of the police department has done nothing other than to make promises for the better protection of school children from injury by speeding automobiles

7—That the present administration has failed to make any constructive effort to secure the opening of Fifteenth street north of O street or otherwise bring about a suitable setting for the new state capitol

8—That the present city commissioners have indulged in petty quarreling among themselves instead of co operating in a businesslike way for the good of the city

The failure of Mayor Zehrung to accept this challenge can not be construed otherwise than an admission of the truth of these statements

LONDON'S SCANDALS.

From London comes the report that the British parliament is manifesting concern over the series of scandals, affecting high society, which have been given an airing in recent months.

Britain only last November kicked the Labor party out of control of the government after a brief tenure of office because of its flirtatious attitude toward the Soviet government, and an inability to make good on the promises which it made to its own followers. It returned the conservatives, including an unusually large number of the nobility, by the most substantial majority in the last twenty-five years.

No sooner had conservatism returned to the saddle than London was rocked by the revelations made public in the famous case of Mr. X— a member of the nobility in India, and heir to the throne of an extremely rich Indian province, who was blackmailed out of $750,000. Hardly had the smoke of the Mr. X case cleared away than a fresh sensation was added in the suit of Mrs. Ian Onslow Dennistoun against her former husband, Lieutenant Colonel Dennistoun, for money which she claimed to have loaned him before her divorce. Lieutenant Colonel Dennistoun is now the husband of Dowager Countess Carnarvon, widow of the famous Egyptologist, who furnished the funds for the exploration of King Tut's tomb. The first Mrs. Dennistoun claimed that her former husband had encouraged an improper relationship with the late Sir John Cowans in order to further the colonel's military ambitions.

The Dennistoun case has revealed a state of affairs in high society which shocked parliament.

And on top of this comes two more cases—one in which Mrs. Muriel Waterhouse has brought suit against Sir David Wilson-Baker, Lady Wilson Baker and others, in which the plaintiff charges that her husband, who is now dead, was mulcted for his fortune by Lady Wilson Baker, under threat of the revelations of an illicit love affair. The second case involves others of prominence in London, it is said.

The Laborites could want for nothing better than the scandals which have rocked London. It is apple sauce for them. If they needed any issue to attack the nobility, it has been supplied them in the last few weeks. Scandals of loose-living in certain of the continental countries have been frequent. But the Anglo Saxon in Britain has generally been free from it. He has usually been a clean-liver and devoted to his home and his family. That is why parliament is now scratching its head, and wondering what the next day will bring forth.

The situation in Britain may be taken as indicative of the system. Britain still clings tenaciously to its devotion to the rich and to the nobility. It believes in the idle and the leisure class. Yet idleness is at the bottom of this which now claims the attention of the British people.

Here in America we have our rich but with few exceptions they are not the idle rich. The luxuries which they enjoy are in the majority of cases the product of their own industry and ingenuity. Most of the American business men are prodigious workers, who occupy every minute and every hour of their time with the problems and the details of the business. With few exceptions they have scant time for clandestine affairs, and as a result America has few scandals of the disgusting character that have been dished up to the British people in recent months. Work has its compensations in more ways than one. Many times it serves to keep people out of mischief.

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR IRELAND.

The Cosgrave government in Ireland has won decisively over the de Valera faction in the recent by-elections called to fill nine pariamentary vacancies. This strengthens the existing regime and removes a ny prospect of a return to the unforunate conditions which prevaled several years ago, when the country was torn by armed strife between bands of revolutionaries and the forces standing for the free state treaty.

Even Eamonn de Valera, erstwhile self-styled "president of Ireland" and leader of the uncompromising republicans, seems sufficiently impressed by the election results as to have abandoned his former militant attitude. At one time he advocated forcible resistance to the free state government in order to accomplish complete separation from the British empire. Chastened by successive defeats, he now says that the people must be "educated" until a majority can be won to favor the setting up of a republican regime.

The fact seems to be that Ireland has grown weary of contentious internal strife and its people desire an opportunity to pursue their various walks of life under peaceful and orderly conditions. They realize, no doubt, that the development of their country has been held back by foolish political quarrels and insurrections.

Not only is the Irish free state becoming more tranquil, but its relations with the Ulster government have been noticeably improved. There have been no serious border clashes for some time and no more talk is heard of changing the boundaries by force of arms. Indeed, the Dublin and Belfast governments appear to be somewhat friendly toward each other at this time, due to the abandonment of coercive threats. The idea that if Ireland is ever unified it must be through amicable understanding and accord between the two sections has apparently impressed itself upon all concerned.

Minority populations in both north and south Ireland have little to complain of at present. Their civil, religious and property rights are being generally respected in each sphere. The people in both divisions are learning to appreciate their mutual dependence on each other. While Ulster and the free state may remain politically separated for a long period of time, Ireland is certain to become more and more of an economic entity as the years pass.

The destruction of millions of dollars worth of property, however, raised a problem distinct and apart from the immediate necessity of burying the dead and providing treatment for those who were injured. It is impossible to reveal the true situation. in a few of those Illinois and Indiana towns and cities. Take Murphysboro, for example, where the heaviest loss of life and the greatest destruction of property took place. Murphysboro was a city of 10,000 people, with flourishing business houses and beautiful homes. Today it is a cemetery of ruins, with scarcely a building of any description standing. If the people of Nebraska want to bring the picture home, pick any of a half dozen of the larger cities in this state, outside of Omaha and Lincoln, and demolish it. The problem of reconstruction would be one demanding outside help. But not only one but a dozen cities and towns in Illinois, and as many more in the other states, suffered the same fate.

It will require a decade to efface the final tracs of the fury of that storm. The news dispatches yesterday carried the information that the total losses paid by companies on tornado insurance will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. To this will be added some insurance for fire losses. But the total amount which the storm victims will receive is pitifully inadequate for the needs.

Nebraska should join in this appeal for help for a neighboring state. The funds which are contributed will be administered through the American Red Cross which in more recent years has sent millions abroad to relieve the distress and suffering in foreign lands. The tornado of last Wednesday issued the greatest challenge to a nation's generosity to the people at home which this country has faced in a quarter of a century. Nebraska will not fail to do her part.

JAPAN'S ANNUAL FIRES.

Enlightened and progessive as the people of Japan are in many ways, they are just as backward and nonprogressive in many others, and one of these is in the building and heating of their homes. Attention is called to this fact by the disastrous fire which swept the slum district of Tokio last week, destroying no less than three thousand houses. Practically every year the cities of the Island Empire are visited by similar conflagrations and it seems certain that this condition will continue.

Japanese cities, especially in the residence sections, are of tinder box construction, the sides being of thin wood and the doors of tissue paper. The oors are of soft matting, while the roofs are of tile. This latter affords some slight protection from the flying embers, but once let a fire get a start, especially with a good wind blowing, and the toll is certain to be great. The hazard is further added to by reason of the fact that heating is done by open charcoal braziers, over which the inhabitants hover on cold winter nights. The sun, beats down on these flimsy structures during the summer, drying them to tinder and when winter comes and the charcoal is lighted, fires are certain to occur. And practically every fire is a disaster. The streets are narrow and flames leap from building to building with startling speed.

After Tokio was destroyed by fire, following the earthquake, there was much talk of laying out the city on modern lines, with wider streets, more room and better construction. But little came of the talk. There are some good buildings in the business district, but Japanese, after living for a thousand years or more in the same kind of houses and with the same kind of heating facilities, refused to make the change and the new Tokio is practically the same as the old.

The fire departments in Japanese cities are very good and are supplied with modern equipment, motor driven, while the firemen are skilled in their work, but as long as the houses are built as they are and heated in the same old manner, the big annual fire is certain to occur. Each fire company has its own fire god, which must be carried to every fire and made comfortable before the fire fighting begins. Great faith is placed in these.

But fire loss is a great calamity and while most of them in Japan could be avoided by proper precautions the same statement applies to every other place in the world.

ECHOES OF THE WAR.

Some of the stories now coming to light in connection with the world war, after a lapse of nearly six years, are more distressing than those which shocked us when the mighty conflict was raging. We want to forget them; to wipe them out but they keep bobbing up.

There recently came to light at Vilna, in the ruins of an old Russian storehouse, one of the most unusual cases uncovered. Diggers found a former Russian army commissiariat employe who had been ten years walled up in the cellar. Unable to escape because the exits had been blocked by debris, the man had kept alive by eating the army stores buried in the cellar with him.

When found, the New York Times declares, he was more like a wild beast than a human being. He had gone completely blind and could neither speak or hear. Three days after his rescue, he died in a hospital.

These echoes of the war concern themselves with individuals. When the conflict was at its height, action was on such a mighty scale that man counted for naught. After the war the stories concerning men in the individual sense, who fought and died, or suffered a fate even more terrible than death, came to again impress us with the awfulness of armed strife.

A prolonged session of the Nevada legislature has just adjourned. If only the Nebraska solons could "prolong" their meetings in as sprightly a fashion.

"Don't put within one basket all
Your eggs," I've heard him say,
"Because if you should let it fall
Your luck would ooze away."

There is another who is rich
And easy to persuade
To dwell upon the rule by which
His fortune has been made.
"Be careful not to waste your shot
By scattering," says he.
"It's concentration that has brought
My great success to me."

It may be that they both are right,
Perhaps luck favored each;
At all events, they've reached a height
That I shall never reach.
The rules they have may be absurd,
But it's a treat, indeed,
When any sober-faced old bird
Explains how to succeed.

How We Go To Sleep.

The muscles which move the arms and the legs usually become relaxed before the muscles that maintain the body in the most erect posture.

In relation to the special senses, that of sight is the first lost, the eyelids forming a barrier between the retina and the external world. Even if the eyelids were missing, or could not be closed because of disease, the sense of sight is the first one that is lost as sleep comes on. Even animals that sleep with their eyes open have an abolition of the light sense during sleep.

Taste is the next to disappear, and then smell. Hearing is next abolished and the sense of touch is the last to be obliterated.

So, conversely, a person is most easily awakened by the sense of touch; next in order by sounds, and then by smell.

The recumbent position has much to do with sleep. While sleep may occur in the sitting posture, and even while standing, these cases are exceptional.

It is certain, also that sleep in bed is generally sounder with a low pillow than with a high one. In cases of wakefulness in the night, the head should be kept low, and in undue sleepiness the head should be kept high.

Although many people delight in bolstering up their heads at night, and sleep soundly without injury, the practice is to be discouraged. The vessels in which the blood passes from the heart to the head are always lessened in their activities when the head is resting in bed higher than the body, therefore in all disease attended with fever the head should be on a lever with the body.

It is not best to sleep mainly on the back but to alternate, and sleep occasionally on either side. The right side is the better of the two because it leaves the action of the heart free and precludes the possibility of undue pressure on any of the large blood vessels. The body will usually assume the position that is the best for that particular person.

Mothers should be very careful of the position in which they put their babies. Many a child's head has failed to develop symmetrically because of continued pressure on one side. Just to turn a small baby at frequent intervals during the day and night will lessen its fretfullness because of the relief from continued pressure on the one side of the head.

Questions And Answers.

Questions on health topics may be addressed to Dr. Perry in care of this newspaper.

MRS. R. T. U.—When my baby was born a month ago I felt so well that I got up in less than a week. I feel much worse now than I did then. What can be the trouble?

ANSWER—You got up too soon. Probably your uterus has not returned to normal size. See a specialist, so that treatment can be started at once if it is necessary. Unless the condition is taken care of immediately, you stand a chance of being one of the poor unfortunates who never "feel quite right."

The University of Nebraska

Something Wrong At Lincoln.

(Kearney Hub.)

It will be necessary for Nebraska legislatures to change their attitude toward the higher institutions of learning—speaking of the state university and state teachers' colleges—if we are to have a well rounded, properly housed and efficiently equipped educational system which will compete with the systems of other states. It does not follow that liberality is extravagance, but it is barely possible that economy may be more properly termed parsimony.

There has been a time, not very far distant in the past, when our legislators showed a pride in the state's educational institutions and their constituents were alert and aggressive wherever there might be the least sign of disloyalty. But legislators have become captious and constituents have become careless, until now it is quite the rule for the responsible executives of those institutions to go begging to secure sufficient appropriations for bare maintenance.

Appropriations for university and teachers' colleges permit those institutions to exist, with underpaid faculties, and without sufficient funds during summer school seasons to employ teachers for these summer students. Where buildings are needed to care for expansion they are denied. Where added facilities are required they are ignored. Where decent maintenance is rightfully expected they are compelled to go hungry.

Probably the most important of all consideration at present is that of housing facilities. Right here it is well to say that we have passed the "piecemeal" period, when educational needs, personal pride and business intelligence demand plans to cover certain periods, and a survey of the work required in Nebraska should convince us that a ten-year period is none too long. Evidently this is what Nebraska educators thought when the incomparable sum of one-eighth of a mill for the university and 1-25th of a mill for the teachers' colleges was asked of the present legislature.

These levies, small as they are, and meaning so little to the taxpayers of Nebraska, would provide for well planned constructive work that would round out, harmonize and beautify each of these educational plants, and make them fit in every respect for the work in which they are engaged—not the work of presidents, professors and preceptors, but the work of every citizen of Nebraska. What any citizen thinks of educational methods is not at all in point. These are our schools. We should not starve them any more than we would starve our children, and no more disparage them than we would humiliate our own sons and daughters. It is time that legislative baiting of our educational institutons should be made the most unpopular and hazardous pastime that members of the legislature can indulge in.

The People's University.

(The Omaha World-Herald.)

It is a very practical problem that is presented by the physical condition and needs of the University of Nebraska, and one in which the people as a whole are vitally concerned. We have a notion that had the university authorities carried that problem more directly to the people rather than concentrate upon the legislature it would be today nearer a satisfactory solution.

For the problem really is whether the university shall be continued as a school for all the people or shall be compelled to limit its services to a fortunate comparative few. There can hardly be a reasonable doubt as to how the people would have that question answered.

The university, with its present housing and equipment, is designed to take care of hardly more than half of its present large attendance. Its overcrowded condition is due to the thirst for higher education that has seized upon every section and community of Nebraska. The popular movement toward the university gates is but in its infancy. Though it has grown fast it will grow faster. What is the university to do? What is the state to do.

• • •

The right thing, the expedient thing, the profitable thing, is to deal fairly with all the young men and women of Nebraska clamoring for a state university education. The only way to do that is to provide, as economically as possible, the buildings in which they and their instructors must assemble, the equipment and facilities necessary to their use. If that is not done then, while many will be called, few will be chosen. And those who are rejected, denied, excluded, will be shut out from rights and privileges that others, no more deserving, will be enjoying.

That would be a jug-handled system of state-supported education, not to be justified except on the plea of poverty—that the people of Nebraska are unable to provide their young folks with the education they want. And that 's not true. There may be many things Nebraska cannot afford—but the proper education of its youth is not one of them.

Obviously the proper way to provide for university expansion is to do it systematically, which requires an assured fund for building purposes until such time as the school will have caught up with its attendance. The great plant is a unit and must be so regarded. Its authorities, in building it up, must be enabled to be reasonably sure that the means will be forthcoming, not merely for this year, or next year, but for a period of years. Otherwise there will be lack of proportion in development together with relatively expensive development.

The very best investment the people can make of their tax money is investment for education. Its returns are sure. Among the returns is a future state of certain greatness, wealth and power. The people understand that, even if their legislature does not. And if the legislature has been enabled to know just how well the people understand it, then the legislature, we are sure, would not hesitate.

The people of Nebraska are the best and most powerful friends the state university has. If the university authorities would act with full faith in the light of that shining truth it would not need much longer to remain in a stunted and crippled condition.

People's Forum

Proposes Debate.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 23. — To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Will you please publish the following letter addressed to Mayor Zehrung: Whereas, many of the voters of Lincoln believe that the present administration has in many respects failed in its duty to the public, and

Whereas, there is to be a city election within a few weeks, and the present mayor and three other of the present city commissioners are candidates for re-election, and

Whereas, the people of Lincoln are entitled to know the truth about what has been going on in the city hall, now

Therefore, I hereby challenge Mayor Frank C. Zehrung to debate the following questions jointly with me in public in any suitable hall or auditorium before the primary election, April 7:

Be it resolved:

1.—That the present city administration has not made any constructive effort to secure a union depot for Lincoln.

2.—That the present city administration has not made any effort to secure new industries for Lincoln.

3.—That the present city administration has not taken any definite action to secure a water supply adequate for the future needs of the city of Lincoln.

4.—That the present city administration has spent $5,700 of the people's money on preliminary zoning work for which the people have not received, and are not likely to receive, anything of value in return.

5.—That the present city commissioners have failed to co-operate to reduce the fire hazard and secure a lower fire insurance rate in Lincoln.

6.—That the present mayor as head of the police department has done nothing other than to make promises for the better protection of school children from injury by speeding automobiles.

7.—That the present administration has failed to make any constructive effort to secure the opening of Fifteenth street north of O street, or otherwise bring about a suitable setting for the new state capitol.

8.—That the present city commissioners have indulged in petty quarreling among themselves instead of co-operating in a businesslike way for the good of the city.

The failure of Mayor Zehrung to accept this challenge can not be construed otherwise than an admission of the truth of these statements.

RECEIVE CLINTON BIDS APRIL 22

Plans Call For Building to Accommodate One Thousand Pupils.

Board Assures Patrons Randolph First On List Of New Schools.

Bids on the Clinton building will be received April 22 at 5:30 o'clock, according to action taken at the Tuesday morning meeting of the board of education. The school will accommodate 1000 pupils, and 700 students are attending the building on that site now.

Judge Lincoln Frost headed a delegates of Randolph patrons who wished assurance that the board intended to complete the school at Thirty-seventh and D streets, and who asked confirmation of the six-three-three plan of school division, with the first six grades in the elementary school, the seventh, eighth and ninth in the junior school, and the senior school for completion of the twelve grades. Supt. M. C. Lefler explained the situation, and the board members assured patrons that Randolph was first on the list, since its building was not secured under the former bond issue.

Contract for moving the sewer at the Clinton site was awarded to George L. Vlasnik on his bid of $760. John Deffenbaugh and Knudson and company were the other bidders. Necessity for moving the sewer from the closing of the alley in block 2, Cook's addition, which divides the school site from the property of the Epworth Methodist church. Dr. B. F. Bailey, chairman of the real estate committee, called attention to the cooperation of the church in requesting the closing of the alley.

Cotner Highway Grading Will Be Started Monday

Grading work on the mile and a quarter stretch of Cotner boulevard from the end of the paving on East O street through Bethany will be started Monday, J. W. McGeer, of the McGeer Construction company, announced Tuesday following action of the county commissioners in accepting his bid of 21.25 cents per yard for the work.

McGeer said he would have one or two elevating graders and several fresnos, with a gang of twenty men at work Monday on the job, which includes 20,000 square yards of grading. He said he was willing to put more men and equipment on if the county saw fit.

The contract provides that the work be completed by May 1. The paving, which will be thirty feet in width, will be completed according to announced plans within two months after that date.

The only other bid for the grading was submitted by Lloyd Edie of Valparaiso. He bid 22 cents.

Huge Decline In Lancaster County Fruit Growing But New Planting Now Possible

A decline of 95 per cent in fruit growing in Lancaster county has taken place in the last quarter of a century, County Agent J. F. Purbaugh said Tuesday.

Over production at a time when transportation and distribution methods were inadequate are given as the main reasons for the decline, which has been checked, Purbaugh stated, with the possibility that the county may in the future regain its former position among the fruit producing areas of the middle west.

Thousands of bushels of apples and peaches formerly went to waste in the county during the time when practically every farm in the [illegible] orchard and many farmers were caring for more than 20 acres of producing apple and peach trees.

Lookes Like California.

"The county looked like a section of California about 1886," the county agent stated. "Every homesteader set out about 8 or 10 acres on his place, many planting more than 20 and the trees did well, too well it seems from later over-production. The younger generation allowed the old trees to die out without replacement and now the total fruit acreage in the county is not over 2,500, including berries and grapes.

"Blue grass with here and there a gnarled old apple tree, are now customary sights," he said, "but of course the three-fourths acre project in which many farmers are cooperating with the agricultural college in starting new orchards may change all of this.

"The soil in the county is of the richest and produces the best apples in the world. There is no reason why the county can't become a leading fruit producing area and maintain its position. The distribution system has been perfected now and the surplus crop could be marketed. As it is at the present time, and has been for the last decade, the county is a heavy importer of fruits of all kinds, carload after carload of apples and [illegible] being brought in that could be produced in the county.

Great Orchards Gone.

"Commercial fruit production is a thing of the past in Lancaster county with farmers now growing just enough for the most part to keep their families supplied with apples, pears, plums, berries and grapes.

"All we need is satisfactory care after planting and the county will again be a great fruit producing center."

Floater Appears At Health Office With Smallpox

A floater, who appeared at the office of the city health department Monday for examination, was found to be suffering from small pox. He was taken to the city isolation hospital, and those who came in contact with him vaccinated. The following statement was given out by Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, superintendent of health:

"A young hobo blew into Lincoln yesterday morning from St. Louis. He exhibited a beautiful case of smallpox bordering on the confluent type. He stopped in St. Joe long enough to consult a doctor because of fever and pains. The doctor told him he had the grip. Within two days he developed an eruption which was well marked at time of his arrival here. He was taken to the hospital and all known contacts vaccinated, these included patients in clinic and employes of the department.

"The incident is unfortunate following so closely on the threatened epidemic of recent date and obviated by the valuable assistance given by the university authorities for which special credit is due Prof. Lyman. Had this case been handled properly it never would have reached Lincoln. As matters stand we are not at all sure we reached all exposures and expect other cases to follow this one in due time, fourteen days from March 23."

Hail Does Little Crop Damage In Lancaster County

Monday's hailstorm did little if any damage in the county it was reported in the offices of the county agent and county engineer Tuesday.

"It is possible that the swollen buds of the fruit trees may be damaged some," County Agent Purbaugh stated," as they are easily damaged."

"The roads in home places were aided by yesterday's storm," W. M. Shotwell of the county engineer's office said.

Arbuckle Obtains a License To Wed Miss Dean Tuesday Night

(Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Wedding bells will ring in celebration of Roscoe Arbuckle's thirty-eighth birthday tonight unless something happens to alter the former film comedian's plan to carry Doris Dean, motion picture actress, soon after sunset at her mother's home in San Marino, a suburb.

Arbuckle announced last night he did not believe there would be any slip-up in the arrangements, though he had already experienced some difficulty in settling the question of who should officiate at the [illegible].

Arbuckle and Miss Dean obtained their marriage license yesterday without finding their path [illegible] by anyone save reporters and photographers who were clustered about the courthouse.

The announcement that the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher would officiate, however, had scarcely found its way to print when that clergyman revealed a lecture engagement which unfortunately would prevent him from going to San Marino.

He suggested to Arbuckle that inasmuch as "very few clergymen wished to marry divorced people" it would be a good idea to have a Superior court judge tie the knot.

Arbuckle acted on the suggestion, but it hardly had been announced that Judge J. W. Summerfield would officiate when the judge learned that his wife had made a dinner engagement for tonight "which would keep him occupied for the entire evening."

With his help, however, Judge Hugh Crawford was found and agreed to be at San Marino at the announced nuptial hour. And thus the matter stood today.

The former comedian's marriage to Miss Dean will be Arbuckle's second trip to the altar. His wife, known to the stage as Minta Durfee, obtained a divorce in Paris several months ago.

Valparaiso Boy First Patient At New Hospital

A very sick little boy who hardly had time to observe the wonders of the new building was the first patient at the Lincoln General hospital. He was there for only a few hours Monday before returning to his home at Valparaiso.

Adolph Helrick is his name. He is twelve years old, the age when little boys are apt to break a leg while playing. And that's just what Adolph did.

Dr. H. Winnett Orr, a member of the hospital staff, had charge of the case, and thus receives the honor of being the first physician to make use of the hospital. He brought the lad to Lincoln in the morning, set the leg in a plaster cast, and bundled him off for home by 6 o'clock in the evening. Adolph was rather cheerful about the incident towards the last, looked around him, said the hospital was a "pretty fine place," and gave no indications that he intended to stay in bed for six weeks.

Eighteen patients are now receiving care at the new hospital. They began to arrive Monday morning and continued to come in all day and all night.

Mrs. Gladys G. Smits has charge of the nursing staff. Fourteen students and eight graduate nurses are under her orders.

Most of the patients, sick as they are, remark on the beauty and comforts of the new building.

Local Opera School Gives Its Premier Production Monday

The premier performance of the Lincoln Opera school was given Monday evening at the Orpheum theater when the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana." was presented. The one act opera was well staged and played for amateurs, although there were some very weak spots in the acting. Helen Cowan as Lola, did good work, and Agnes Backstrom, as Mother Lucia, gave a creditable performance. Miss Famie Wagner, who played the role of Santuzza, had, no doubt the heaviest feminine role in the opera, and in some of her scenes showed ability, while in others she appeared to be a bit too strenuous and vivaceous instead of the simple maiden she was supposed to be.

Santuzza (San-toot-zah)—................Famie Wagner

Lucia (Loo-chee-ah)—..............Agnes Backstrom

Lola (Low-lah) ......Helen Cowan

Turiddu (Too-ree-doo)—..................Wyatt Hunter

Alfio (Al-fee-oh) ....Jacob Freidli

Tenors: Hobart Davis, Edward Ellingson, Albert Fredli, Ivan MacCormack.

LINKS' INFIELD FLASHING CLASS

Quartet of Maderas, Sitts, Flaskamper and Rathjen Has Real Goods.

Joplin Critics Decide That Manager Clarke Landed Some Live Ones.

JOPLIN, Mo., March 23.—"Oh boy what a sweet looking infield that is." Such was the comment of the Joplin natives who watched the Links' infielders go through their paces at their Monday practice sessions.

The remarks surely were justified, for Maderas, Flaskamper, Rathjen and Sitts, with Grace at the plate, gathered up and threw the ball around with unusual rapidity, grace and accuracy. Frankie Haley, or anyone else for that matter, will have a hard time breaking into such a smooth working combination as is being worked up.

With either "Flash" or Rathjen as pivot man double plays should be reeled off with remarkable precision.

Ernest Brunken, Lincoln lad and protege of George Shestak, former Western league catcher, was advised last night by Manager Josh Clarke to return home. Brunken was full of ambition, but devoid of professional ability. As he was paying his own expenses, he will save money by acting on Clarke's fatherly advice.

A full practice game is scheduled for today against the Battery B baseball team, a local semi-pro aggregation of supposedly some class.

Blues to Plant Al Bloodgood On Baseball Farm

Management of the Kansas City Blues evidently is preparing to plant Al Bloodgood, former Cornhusker football and baseball payer, on a minor league "farm," but attaching a string by way of permitting the youngster's recall. Clyde McBride, sports editor of the K. C. Star, who is touring California with the Blues, yesterday wired his paper as follows:

"Remaining with the club are Al Bloodgood, the Nebraska quarterback; Ed Pick, the Hutchinson, Kas., slugger; Carl Shoots of the same place, and Tommy Maguire, a Chicago semi-pro. Each one of this quartet looks so good that John Savage will have to find a place for him in the bushes and attach a stout rope so that each may be hauled back when the hauling back time arrives.

"Bloodgood, the Nebraska signal caller, is a player of fine possibilities. He is fast afoot, strong of arm and Manager Lavan believes he will hit. Bloodgood, of course, has a lot to learn and undoubtedly will be placed where he can get the necessary outfielding and hitting education."

HASTINGS LANDS LEAGUE SHOOTS

Nebraska Gunners Booked to Display Skill In Adams County Capital.

(Special to The Star.)

MINDEN, Neb., March 24.—The meeting of the Nebraska Trapshooters league was held at Minden with a fair attendance of shooters and representatives of clubs who have been members in other years or who wish to join. Much interest was shown and everyone present looks for 1925 to be a very busy one in the target-busting game.

The following officers were elected for the year: J. C. Copsey, Holdrege, president; Loren Bunney, Holdrege, secretary-treasurer; W. H. Lemburg, Boelus, vice-president.

It was decided to hold five league shoots at Hastings, beginning April 19, the dates being as follows: April 19, May 10, June 14, July 19, August 9.

President Copsey was given authority to purchase the prizes to be given at the regular shoots to the high shooters and clubs and it was decided to buy different prizes than the regular trophies which have been awarded to winners in former years.

Targets Increased.

A change was made in the number of targets. Instead of the regulation 100 targets in the singles and 12 pairs in the doubles, the program will be 150 single targets and 12 pairs of doubles. After the first 50 targets on the league program, the remainder of 100 targets will be optional with the shooter. This was done because shooters living at a distance of 100 miles or more do not like to go so far to shoot 100 targets only.

The following towns will start the league season: Hastings, Kearney, Dannebrog, Red Cloud, Bartley, Trenton, Grand Island, Minden and McCook. With the Lincoln, Columbus and Cozad clubs possibly coming into line, the interest could be kept up throughout the season.

The section system used last year with only three clubs to a league, brought an average of 20 shooters to a league shoot, but with all clubs shooting together the interest shown in other years should attract at least 75 to 100 shooters to each shoot held this season.

All league shoots will be registered with the Amateur Trapshooting association and scores will be counted in the yearly averages. Four automatic traps will be used.

RECEIVE CLINTON BIDS APRIL 22

Plans Call For Building to Accommodate One Thousand Pupils.

Grading work on the mile and a quarter stretch of Cotner boulevard from the end of the paving on East O street through Bethany will be started Monday, J. W. McGeer, of the McGeer Construction company, announced Tuesday following action of the county commissioners in accepting his bid of 21.25 cents per yard for the work.

McGeer said he would have one or two elevating graders and several fresnos, with a gang of twenty men at work Monday on the job, which includes 20,000 square yards of grading. He said he was willing to put more men and equipment on if the county saw fit.

The contract provides that the work be completed by May 1. The paving, which will be thirty feet in width, will be completed according to announced plans within two months after that date.

The only other bid for the grading was submitted by Lloyd Edie of Valparaiso. He bid 22 cents.

Huge Decline In Lancaster County Fruit Growing But New Planting Now Possible

A decline of 95 per cent in fruit growing in Lancaster county has taken place in the last quarter of a century, County Agent J. F. Purbaugh said Tuesday.

Over production at a time when transportation and distribution methods were inadequate are given as the main reasons for the decline, which has been checked, Purbaugh stated, with the possibility that the county may in the future regain its former position among the fruit producing areas of the middle west.

Thousands of bushels of apples and peaches formerly went to waste in the county during the time when practically every farm in the county had at least eight acres of orchard and many farmers were caring for more than 20 acres of producing apple and peach trees.

Looked Like California.

"The county looked like a section of California about 1896," the county agent stated. "Every homesteader set out about 8 or 10 acres on his place, many planting more than 20 and the trees did well, too well it seems from later over-production. The younger generation allowed the old trees to die out without replacement and now the total fruit acreage in the county is not over 2,000, including berries and grapes.

"Blue grass with here and there a gnarled old apple tree, are now customary sights," he said, "but of course the three-fourths acre project in which many farmers are cooperating with the agricultural college in starting new orchards may change all of this.

"The soil in the county is of the richest and produces the best apples in the world. There is no reason why the county can't become a leading fruit producing area and maintain its position. The distribution system has been perfected now and the surplus crop could be marketed. As it is at the present time, and has been for the last decade, the county is a heavy importer of fruits of all kinds, carload after carload of apples and peaches being brought in that could be produced in the county.

Great Orchards Gone.

"Commercial fruit production is a thing of the past in Lancaster county with farmers now growing just enough for the most part to keep their families supplied with apples, pears, plums, berries and grapes.

"All we need is satisfactory care after planting and the county will again be a great fruit producing center."

Floater Appears At Health Office With Smallpox

A floater, who appeared at the office of the city health department Monday for examination, was found to be suffering from small pox. He was taken to the city isolation hospital, and those who came in contact with him vaccinated. The following statement was given out by Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, superintendent of health:

"A young hobo blew into Lincoln yesterday morning from St. Louis. He exhibited a beautiful case of smallpox bordering on the confluent type. He stopped in St. Joe long enough to consult a doctor because of fever and pains. The doctor told him he had the grip. Within two days he developed an eruption which was well marked at time of his arrival here. He was taken to the hospital and all known contacts vaccinated, these included patients in clinic and employes of the department.

"The incident is unfortunate following so closely on the threatened epidemic of recent date and obviated by the valuable assistance given by the university authorities for which special credit is due Prof. Lyman. Had this case been handled properly it never would have reached Lincoln. As matters stand we are not at all sure we reached all exposures and expect other cases to follow this one in due time, fourteen days from March 23."

Hail Does Little Crop Damage In Lancaster County

Monday's hailstorm did little if any damage in the county it was reported in the offices of the county agent and county engineer Tuesday.

"It is possible that the swollen buds of the fruit trees may be damaged some," County Agent Purbaugh stated," as they are easily damaged."

"The roads in home places were aided by yesterday's storm," W. M. Shotwell of the county engineer's office said.

Arbuckle Obtains a License To Wed Miss Dean Tuesday Night

(Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Wedding bells will ring in celebration of Roscoe Arbuckle's thirty-eighth birthday tonight unless something happens to alter the former film comedian's plan to carry Doris Dean, motion picture actress, soon after sunset at her mother's home in San Marino, a suburb.

Arbuckle announced last night he did not believe there would be any slip-up in the arrangements, though he had already experienced some difficulty in settling the question of who should officiate at the wedding.

Arbuckle and Miss Dean obtained their marriage license yesterday without finding their path blocked by anyone save reporters and photographers who were clustered about the courthouse.

The announcement that the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher would officiate, however, had scarcely found its way to print when that clergyman revealed a lecture engagement which unfortunately would prevent him from going to San Marino.

He suggested to Arbuckle that inasmuch as "very few clergymen wished to marrry divorced people" it would be a good idea to have a Superior court judge tie the knot.

Arbuckle acted on the suggestion, but it hardly had been announced that Judge J. W. Summerfield would officiate when the judge learned that his wife had made a dinner engagement for tonight "which would keep him occupied for the entire evening."

With his help, however, Judge Hugh Crawford was found and he agreed to be at San Marino at the appointed nuptial hour. And thus the matter stood today.

The former comedian's marriage to Miss Dean will be Arbuckle's second trip to the altar. His wife, known to the stage as Minta Durfee, obtained a divorce in Paris several months ago.

Valparaiso Boy First Patient At New Hospital

A very sick little boy who hardly had time to observe the wonders of the new building was the first patient at the Lincoln General hospital. He was there for only a few hours Monday before returning to his home at Valparaiso.

Adolph Helrick is his name. He is twelve years old, the age when little boys are apt to break a leg while playing. And that's just what Adolph did.

Dr. H. Winnett Orr, a member of the hospital staff, had charge of the case, and thus receives the honor of being the first physician to make use of the hospital. He brought the lad to Lincoln in the morning, set the leg in a plaster cast, and bundled him off for home by 6 o'clock in the evening. Adolph was rather cheerful about the incident towards the last, looked around him, said the hospital was a "pretty fine place," and gave no indications that he intended to stay in bed for six weeks.

Eighteen patients are now receiving care at the new hospital. They began to arrive Monday morning and continued to come in all day and all night.

Mrs. Gladys G. Smits has charge of the nursing staff. Fourteen students and eight graduate nurses are under her orders.

Most of the patients, sick as they are, remark on the beauty and comforts of the new building.

Local Opera School Gives Its Premier Production Monday

The premier performance of the Lincoln Opera school was given Monday evening at the Orpheum theater when the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," was presented. The one act opera was well staged and played for amateurs, although there were some very weak spots in the acting. Helen Cowan as Lola, did good work, and Agnes Backstrom, as Mother Lucia, gave a creditable performance. Miss Famie Wagner, who played the role of Santuzza, had, no doubt the heaviest feminine role in the opera, and in some of her scenes showed ability, while in others she appeared to be a bit too strenuous and vivaceous instead of the simple maiden she was supposed to be.

Santuzza (San-toot-zah)— ....Famie Wagner

Lucia (Loo-chee-ah)— ....Agnes Backstrom

Lola (Low-lah) ....Helen Cowan

Turiddu (Too-ree-doo)— ....Wyatt Hunter

Alfio (Al-fee-oh) .....Jacob Freidli

Blues to Plant Al Bloodgood On Baseball Farm

Management of the Kansas City Blues evidently is preparing to plant Al Bloodgood, former Cornhusker football and baseball payer, on a minor league "farm," but attaching a string by way of permitting the youngster's recall. Clyde McBride, sports editor of the K. C. Star, who is touring California with the Blues, yesterday wired his paper as follows:

"Remaining with the club are Al Bloodgood, the Nebraska quarterback; Ed Pick, the Hutchinson, Kas., slugger; Carl Shoots of the same place, and Tommy Maguire, a Chicago semi-pro. Each one of this quartet looks so good that John Savage will have to find a place for him in the bushes and attach a stout rope so that each may be hauled back when the hauling back time arrives.

"Bloodgood, the Nebraska signal caller, is a player of fine possibilities. He is fast afoot, strong of arm and Manager Lavan believes he will hit. Bloodgood, of course, has a lot to learn and undoubtedly will be placed where he can get the necessary outfielding and hitting education."

HASTINGS LANDS LEAGUE SHOOTS

Nebraska Gunners Booked to Display Skill In Adams County Capital.

(Special to The Star.)

MINDEN, Neb., March 24.—The meeting of the Nebraska Trapshooters league was held at Minden with a fair attendance of shooters and representatives of clubs who have been members in other years or who wish to join. Much interest was shown and everyone present looks for 1925 to be a very busy one in the target-busting game.

The following officers were elected for the year: J. C. Copsey, Holdrege, president; Loren Bunney, Holdrege, secretary-treasurer; W. H. Lemburg, Boelus, vice-president.

It was decided to hold five league shoots at Hastings, beginning April 19, the dates being as follows: April 19, May 10, June 14, July 19, August 9.

President Copsey was given authority to purchase the prizes to be given at the regular shoots to the high shooters and clubs and it was decided to buy different prizes than the regular trophies which have been awarded to winners in former years.

Targets Increased.

A change was made in the number of targets. Instead of the regulation 100 targets in the singles and 12 pairs in the doubles, the program will be 150 single targets and 12 pairs of doubles. After the first 50 targets on the league program, the remainder of 100 targets will be optional with the shooter. This was done because shooters living at a distance of 100 miles or more do not like to go so far to shoot 100 targets only.

The following towns will start the league season: Hastings, Kearney, Dannebrog, Red Cloud, Bartley, Trenton, Grand Island, Minden and McCook. With the Lincoln, Columbus and Cozad clubs possibly coming into line, the interest could be kept up throughout the season.

The section system used last year with only three clubs to a league, brought an average of 20 shooters to a league shoot, but with all clubs shooting together the interest shown in other years should attract at least 75 to 100 shooters to each shoot held this season.

All league shoots wil be registered with the Amateur Trapshooting association and scores will be counted in the yearly averages. Four automatic traps will be used.

New York Commission Tired Of Waiting On Word From Dempsey.

Boxing Moguls Prepared to Match Tommy Gibbons Against Wills.

COMMISH READY TO ACT

NEW YORK March 24 — Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion and the New York state athletic commission are scheduled to meet in the final round of their battle today

Dempsey is far far away but the commission has a long report and may be able to jolt him with the plan to place him upon the ineligible list in New York state Such action would knock Dempsey into the position occupied by Mickey Walker welterweight king who has been barred from New York rings for several months

The telegram carrying the challenge of the negro heavyweight Harry Wills to Dempsey remains unanswered The requested decision has been withheld and the fifteen days granted by law have sped away Today's regular meeting is reported ready to take drastic action

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK March 24 — Announcement that Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons are to engage in a very official and altogether conclusive bout for the heavyweight championship of the New York state athletic commission this summer is expected to follow hard upon the heels today of the commission's promised dethronement of Jack Dempsey The champion is to be given the guillotine according to popular rumor for his failure to answer Wills challenge on time if at all and the good word has gone out that the commission will suggest the Wills Gibbons meeting as a championship substitute

Promoters of the local milk fund bouts have had this bout in the bag for some time but have been constrained to withhold their announcement until such time as the commission decided to give Dempsey a brutal slap on the wrist

This it is said will be duly and formally attended to this afternoon after which everyone with the exception of the commission will proceed to forget the incident the milk fund management included

Elimination Contest

It is neither the promoters hope nor intention to advertise the Wills Gibbons bout as a championship affair They want the bout to go down under the head of a championship elimination contest and as such one can do less than hail it as a worthy enterprise

They would have settled the thing long since except for the fact that Wills declined to do business until he was certain that Dempsey intended to give his challenge the wide detour

If Wills doesn't realize the portent of the situation by this time it might well be imagined that Harry is the kind of a gent who thinks that the late John L Sullivan was a French Canadian He at least has been given an ample benefit of Jack Kearns remarks on the subject during recent days

Kearns Does Some Talking

Dempsey will not meet either Wills or Gibbons until one or the other proves himself the better man quoth Kearns It is not a question of fearing either man It is simply business Dempsey will not fight until fall and if Wills proves he can beat Gibbons the gate will benefit accordingly

Wills of course will claim the title if the board makes good on predictions One of these fine days the writer intends to claim the championship at piano throwing

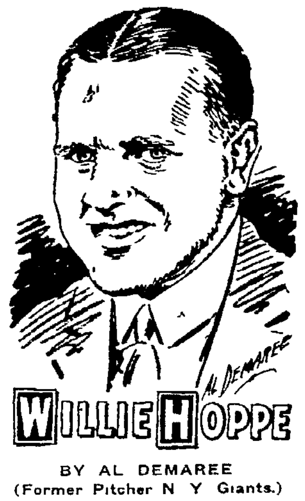
Hoppe Misses Shot Because of Persistent Fly



BY AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher N Y Giants.)

Of the many stories told by Willie Hoppe billiard champion recently dethroned by young Jake Schaefer the one about the persistent fly is his favorite

Along toward the middle of a certain game Hoppe found himself up at the side rail confronted with a difficult masse shot He raised his cue and took his stance only to find that a common house fly had alighted on the cue ball at exactly the spot he wanted to hit Hoppe paused a second waiting for the fly to go away but he didn't budge The referee came over and took out his handkerchief shooing the fly away Again Hoppe lifted his cue and back again came the fly settling down again on the same spot Once more the referee shooed him away and once more the fly circled around and came back again to his old perch

The spectators were laughing and those nearest the table joined in the action They waved hats newspapers and score cards in all kinds of threatening gestures that would have frightened an elephant and each time when the excitement had died down the fly came back and sat down

Eighteen distinct times Hoppe raised his cue to shoot only to be thwarted each time by the returning fly The only satisfactory explanation he could give for the episode was that the fly had run across a grain of sugar or chalk on the ball and was determined to finish the tid bit in spite of the billiard game At last somebody killed him

When Hoppe finally raised his cue for the nineteenth time he found all his powers of concentration gone and missed the shot by the proverbial mile

COACHES FAVOR ONE TOURNAMENT

Star's Poll to Date Shows Majority Against The District Idea.

BY GREGG McBRIDE

The Star's poll of Nebraska high school basketball coaches asking their preference regarding continuance of the district plan or revival of the one tournament in deciding cage honors has already been productive of some interesting results

The opinions of more than 300 coaches were solicited A majority has already replied and of this group a large number have shown a preference for the one tournament idea Actual figures will be announced early next week as replies are still rolling in at a rapid rate and may change the final result

Those opposing the one tournament idea and favoring the district sheme are frank to confess that the district system in vogue this season has not been a howling success and must be changed Suggestions regarding changes in the district plan are many and somewhat interesting in that in many instances they are contradictory

Suggestions by Coaches

Some coaches claim the districts are too small others that they are too large some maintain that outside influences have had too strong a hand in controlling the districts while others advocate that the committees in charge of each tourney be made up of school men outside the district many advocate that the classes were too large while others maintain all teams in a district should be thrown together to bring forth one champion

A few are prone to pan the high school board of control for the so-called breakdown of the district system in some sections These critics should go a trifle easy for it will be remembered that at the meeting in which the one tournament idea was abandoned the state association issued no instructions other than that it favored the district system

Instructions Indefinite

We favor the abolishment of the one tournament and instruct the board of control to institute the district system for settling the high school basketball championship

This was the sum and substance of the bill of lading handed the control board—a sort of Go find Livingstone command in which the board members did the best they could

Two articles to follow will present the arguments offered by advocates of the district plan ' Two articles setting forth the arguments presented for the one tournament' and a discussion of suggested plans will complete the series

Suggestions by Coaches.

Some coaches claim the districts are too small, others that they are too large; some maintain that "outside" influences have had too strong a hand in controlling the districts while others advocate that the committees in charge of each tourney be made up of school men outside the district; many advocate that the classes were too large, while others maintain all teams in a district should be thrown together to bring forth one champion.

A few are prone to pan the high school board of control for the so-called breakdown of the district system in some sections. These critics should go a "trifle easy" for it will be remembered that at the meeting in which the "one-tournament" idea was abandoned the state association issued no instructions other than that it favored the "district system."

Instructions Indefinite.

This was the sum and substance of the bill of lading handed the control board—a sort of "Go find Livingstone" command in which the board members did the best they could.

Two articles to follow will present the arguments offered by advocates of the "district plan." Two articles setting forth the arguments presented for the "one-tournament" and a discussion of suggested plans will complete the series.

Community Club Banquets St. Paul Winning Quintet

ST. PAUL, Neb., March 24.—The St. Paul Community club banqueted the St. Paul high school basketball team, which won class B honors in the Nebraska state tournament this season. St. Paul won over Chadron Prep, Big Springs, Mead and Alma in the state meet.

The St. Paul five lost but two games during the entire season—one to Ravenna and the other to Central City in the district tournament.

A crowd of over two hundred attended the banquet and each one of the players and Coach Myron Spohrer were presented with gold basketball charms.

Mondt to Clash With 'Big' Munn On Chicago Mat

CHICAGO, March 24. — Wayne Munn, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Joe "Toots" Mondt, Colorado cowboy, have been matched for the main bout of a wrestling show here March 31.

(Note by the Sports Editor: Munn and Mondt will be colliding in their second grappling encounter when they come to grips in Chicago next week. During Munn's meteoric campaign in Kansas City, which terminated in his defeat of "Strangler" Lewis, former champion, Mondt was pitted against the Nebraska giant in December. The cowboy was flattened in straight falls, not once seeing "Big" Munn's back.)

HUSKERS START OUTDOOR GRIND

Nebraska Tracksters Open Work On Outdoor Oval This Week.

The indoor season having been completed with the winning of the Missouri conference indoor title at Kansas City last Saturday, Coach Henry F. Schulte's Cornhusker track squad launched outdoor workouts at the Nebraska stadium Monday afternoon.

The outdoor schedule which the Cornhuskers face is one of the most pretentious in Nebraska history. Dual meets are on the slate with Leland Stanford and the University of New Mexico. A triangular meet at the Memorial stadium has been arranged with the University of Kansas and the Kansas Aggies. The Huskers also will compete in the Kansas relays at Lawrence, Drake relays at Des Moines and the Missouri Valley conference outdoor meet at Norman, Okla.

The California trip is the immediate objective of the cinder squad. The Nebraska team, including twenty-one men, will pull away from Lincoln March 31. Leland Stanford will be met April 4 and the University of New Mexico on the return trip.

Preliminary tryouts for the coast squad were scheduled for this afternoon, final tryouts held later in the week.

Nurmi Aims At Record Mile On Gotham Boards

NEW YORK, March 24. — Paavo Nurmi will run the last long mile on the boards of New York tonight.

Jimmie Connolly, sturdy product of Georgetown, will accompany him in a special race at the 244th coast artillery games, an event in which Nurmi hopes to break the tie existing between Joie Ray and himself as one-mile record holders at four minutes 12 seconds.

After this test, his last of the indoor season in the metropolitan district, Nurmi starts on a journey which is expected to take him across the continent to the Pacific coast. He plans to return east early in May and leave immediately for a series of races in Europe.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 24.—Local pomoters were said this morning to have practically received assurance from Paavo Nurmi, the phantom Finn, to appear in a series of races here next month when the world's champion runner goes to the coast. Fleet Zuni Indians will be his opponents. The Indians are said to be capable of making seven and a half miles in thirty-four minutes.

Glove Decision To Herman Over Roper

PORTLAND, Ore., March 24.—Tiny Herman, Portland heavyweight, held a decision over Capt. Bob Roper of Roanoke, Va., following their ten-round bout here last night.

Herman unleashed a slashing body attack in the final rounds and won easily.

Athletes Excel In Schoolwork

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 24.—Athletes of the University of Michigan won a better average grade than that attained by all students of the school during the first semester this year.

Statistics made public today by the athletic associations show the average of the school to be between 72 and 73 per cent. The athletes made 75 per cent.

Track men proved the intellectual aristocrats of the athletes, compiling an average of 81.2.

GODFREY BOOKED FOR BOUT.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 24.—Jimmy Daugherty, fight referee and manager, agreed today to match George Godfrey, negro heavyweight boxer, against George Manley of Denver for a bout here within the next week or two.

Such popularity must be deserved

FOREMOST among the many factors contributing to Mr. Belasco's success is his uncanny knack of anticipating changes in popular taste.

And this knack is just as important in other fields. For example, Chesterfield was first made in anticipation of a change in cigarette taste. The change came—men wanted a different kind of cigarette. How completely Chesterfield met this demand is proved today by its unprecedented and sustained popularity.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK March 24

Publication of relatively poor February earnings reports by some of the western railroads brought about a renewal of selling pressure in today s stock market which continued to sag to lower ground Union Pacific New York Central and many other leading rails and industrials slipped to new low levels for the year Total sales approximated 5 0 000 shares

Confusing price movements prevailed at the opening of today s stock market as liquidation resulting from inspired margin accounts and progressive bear selling contributed to the weakness of many issues Other stocks reflected extensive short covering Baldwin American Savage Arms and American Sugar recovered about a point United States Steel opened unchanged at 118 Commercial Solvents B dropped 13 points

Erratic fluctuations marked the first half trading Futile attempts were made to unsettle the general market by a concerted trading against U S Steel and Baldwin but these stocks after dipping to new low levels quickly snapped back to above their opening prices United States Castiron Pipe rallied four points and General Electric 4 Denial b Interborough Rapid Transit officials that a receivership was imminent enabled that company s stock to recover ½ points of its recent sharp loss Heavy buying of Pan American B again developed in expectation of an early announcement regarding segregation of the company s oil properties Southern Pacific and other western rail shares were heavy in reflection of unfavorable February earnings Foreign exchanges opened firm with sterling quoted at $4 8

The strong undertone displayed by the market during the morning suggested urgent liquidation had been completed at least temporarily and that bear traders were not disposed to extend their commitments at present levels Reports that brokers loans had declined sent ment Trading was rather dull on the rally Among the dozen or so stocks to sell points or more below yesterday s final quotations were American Co Associated Drygoods American Locomotive Savage Arms Columbia Gas Maxwell Motors A Central Leather preferred and American Agricultural preferred Call money renewed at 3½ per cent

Heavy selling of the grain carriers following the publication of the unfavorable February earnings of the Union Pacific drove those shares down to new minimum prices for the year and unsettled the general market Omaha dropped 7 points Chicago Northwestern 6¼ Atlantic Coast line four Great Northern preferred 3 Northern Pacific 3 Union Pacific ¾ and Southern Pacific Canadian Pacific Delaware and Lackawanna and St Louis and San Francisco two points

The closing was weak

GRAIN MARKETS

CHICAGO March 24

Showers in Kansas tended to ease down the wheat market today during the early dealings Indications that export buying of wheat had come to something of a halt for at least the time being were also influential toward a setback of prices On the other hand Liverpool quotations were higher than had been looked for and selling pressure here was light The opening which ranged from 1 4c decline to 4c advance May $1 69 3 4 to $1 70 3 4 and July $1 48 to $1 49 were followed by numerous fluctuations with 1 3 4 cent range and mostly below yesterday s finish

Subsequently reports that spring wheat seeding is underway in Minnesota and South Dakota led to rather free selling There was notable curtailment of buying and a sharp decline in values took place especially at the last Wheat closed May $1 65 to 1 65½ and July $1 45¼ to $1 45½

Corn and oats were weak as a result of dearth of shipping demand from the east After opening at 3 4c off to 1 4c up May $1 13 1 4 to $1 13 3 4 the corn market underwent a drop of more than one cent all around

The big stock of corn acted after as a continued depressing factor Corn closed heavy ⅝ to 3¼c net lower May $1 10¼ $1 10¼

Oats started unchanged to 3 8c down May 45 1 8c to 45½c Later the decline became general

In line with corn and hogs the provision market pointed down grade

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 24.

Publication of relatively poor February earnings reports by some of th western railroads brought about a renewal of selling pressure in today's stock markete, which continued to sag to lower ground. Union Pacific, New York Central and many other leading rails and industrials slipped to new low levels for the year. Total sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Confusing price movements prevailed at the opening of today's stock market, as liquidation resulting from inspired margin accounts and progressive bear selling contributed to the weakness of many issues. Other stocks reflected extensive short covering. Baldwin, American Can, Savage Arms and American Sugar recovered about a point. United States Steel opened unchanged at 118. Commercial Solvents B dropped 13 points.

Erratic flunctuations marked the first half trading. Futile attempts were made to unsettle the general market by a concerted trading against U. S. Steel and Baldwin, but these stocks, after dipping to new low levels quickly snapped back to above their opening prices. United States Castiron Pipe rallied four points and General Electric 4 3-4. Denial by Interborough Rapid Transit officials that a receivership was imminent enabled that company's stock to recover 2½ points of its recent sharp loss. Heavy buying of Pan-American B again developed in expectation of an early announcement regarding segregation of the company's oil properties. Southern Pacific and other western rail shares were heavy in relection of unfavorable February earnings. Foreign exchanges opened firm, with sterling quoted at $4.78.

The strong undertone displayed by the market during the morning suggested urgent liquidation had been completed, at least temporarily, and that bear traders were not disposed to extend their commitments at current levels. Reports that brokers' loans had declined sentiment. Trading was rather dull on the rally. Among the dozen or so stocks to sell 2 points or more above yesterday's final quotations were American Can, Associated Drygoods, American Locotive, Savage Arms, Columbia Gas, Maxwell Motors A, Central Leather preferred, and American Agriculture preferred. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent.

Heavy selling of the grain carriers following the publication of the unfavorable February earnings of the Union Pacific drove those shares down to new minimum prices for the year and unsettled the general market. Omaha dropped 7 points, Chicago Northwestern 6½ Atlantic Coast line four, Great Northern preferred 3⅜; Northern Pacific 3, Union Pacific 2¾ and Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Delaware and Lackawanna and St. Louis and San Francisco two points.

The closing was weak.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, March 24.

Showers in Kansas tended to ease down the wheat market today during the early dealings. Indications that export buying of wheat had come to something of a halt for at least the time being were also influential toward a setback of prices. On the other hand, Liverpool quotations were higher than had been looked for, and selling pressure here was light. The opening, which ranged from 1-4c decline to ½c advance, May $1.69 3-4 to $1.70 3-4, and July $1.48½ to $1.49, were followed by numerous fluctuations with 1 3-4c cent range and mostly below yesterday's finish.

Subsequently reports that spring wheat seeding is underway in Minnesota and South Dakota led to rather free selling. There was notable curtailment of buying and a sharp decline in values took place especially at the last. Wheat closed nervous 1¾ to 5c net lower, May $1.65¼ to 1.65½ and July $1.45¼ to $1.45½.

Corn and oats were weak as a result of dearth of shipping demand from the east. After opening at 3-4c off to 1-4c up, May $1.13 1-4 to $1.13 3-4, the corn market underwent a drop of more than one cent all around.

The big stock of corn acted alter as a continued depressing factor. Corn closed heavy, 2⅜ to 3¼c net lower, May $1.10¼ @1.10½.

Oats started unchanged to 3-8c down, May 45 1-8c to 45½c. Later, the decline became general.

In line with corn and hogs the provision market pointed down grade.

You Can't Lose On This System

They're all good systems—until they lose! Only one in ten thousand ever "beats the game."

But the odds are all in your favor when you play the Star system of recovering lost valuables. It's making winners out of wise losers all the time.

Your lost watch or handbag can't stay lost after you've told everybody in Lincoln that it's yours—unless some dishonest person found it. And that doesn't happen one time out of ten.

Here's a simple, winning system for you to follow next time you lose anything—from a dog to a diamond ring.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Illegal And Immoral

Dear Minerva I am not a girl of eighteen summers and although I am of highly reputable parents my best boy friend in fact the only boy I ever loved is of a questionable character to be frank he is a bootlegger

Now last evening my fiance accused me of having told some friends that he and I knew about some alcohol he had hidden out in the country Yesterday morning these fellows located his cache and turned it over to the police

Gee but I am glad for if it were not for the stupidity of the officer my friend would have gotten caught [illegible] was out all afternoon in search of his hidden cache

He still believes I told them and the only way he will forgive me is for me to finance him to start in again because he is a college student and this is his only way of livelihood

Now if I refused him it will mean the end of our romance and I simply cannot give him up

Please advise me what to do Yours devotedly —HEART BROKEN GIRL

A I would probably have dismissed your letter as insincere and [illegible] had it not been [illegible] I knew [illegible] quite [illegible]

A school girl of very fine parentage was found by her brother to have been delivering liquor for a young man for many months doing it because of infatuation to the man and love of excitement She narrowly escaped disgrace but even then thought it all a huge joke

It seems downright stupid to me for a girl to countenance such law breaking and to have any love for the man who thus breaks the law Association with such a man can bring only degeneration and disgrace

The bootlegger is a criminal as surely as is the thief the forger He is deliberately breaking the law for personal gain

Traffic in liquor is even more disgraceful because the trade even in times when lawful was not an honorable one

Don't be an easy little simpleton and let this man work you through his personal attraction for you

Keep your own conscience clear and do nothing of which you would be ashamed to tell your mother

Spring Is Near

Dear Minerva I have never written to you before although I have read your Mail for several years My home has always been here in Lincoln but this year I am teaching in a small town and know very little about the new spring styles

My friend and I have secured jobs in a hotel in a summer resort around the Great Lakes to make our expenses But I do not know just what clothes I will need and what clothes will be worn this year I am saving what I can to go back to college next year so my summer clothes must be inexpensive

I had in mind a striped flannel sport dress Would that be good this summer?

What weight materials are going to be worn?

What color and style of shoes and hose are going to be used?

I am five feet five inches tall and weigh 11[illegible] pounds What would be a good length for my skirts?

I thank you for any suggestions you can give me —TWENTY ONE

A If you are to have but a few clothes I think a sports dress of the plain kasha cloth would be less tiresome than the striped dress There are some beauties being shown trimmed simply in red or green well tailored and made You could wear your dresses quite short say eleven or twelve inches from the floor Light stockings and black patent leather slippers would be pretty and a dashing hat of pongee or leghorn sports style

As Abe Martin says Th' skirts'll be shorter fuller an' lots handsomer this spring but we'll be up against th' same ole yeller stockin's

Air In The Church

Dear Minerva I am not interested in dancing just now nor any other morals I have other things to take my time and thoughts

(1) I wonder if there is any church in Lincoln that ever thinks about fresh air I know of many persons who do not attend service They have gone to several of the churches and no where is there enough air It is impossible to look about one and see any means of ventilation The Sunday school rooms are kept likewise—the teachings are fine but why not have a little air with them The average church is shut up for days at a time—then heated and kept closed tightly to keep the heat in—and honestly, they are not fit to sit in through an hour's service Can't the ministers see that this is done? The janitors evidently don't believe in air—but the ministers might if their minds were diverted to it

(2) I have many garments in need of cleaning I just cannot send all our winter clothes to the cleaners—I have not the money to do it But everything needs a good thorough spring cleaning Can you tell me any way in which this can be done at home

Let me know Sincerely LILLIAN

A Most of the churches are ventilated through circulation air systems the ventilators often visible in the art work of the walls You probably feel stuffy because you cannot see a window open or fan going There may also be poorly ventilated churches, but most of them have the system I mention

There are many good cleaners on the market which you can use in renovating your clothes

Her Freedom

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright 1924, by Public Ledger Company

Dorothy Carey hates the idea of marriage and determines to maintain her freedom She has a position with the Woman's Apparel Magazine and Harvey Collins the editor who is a married man is in love with her While she is away on her vacation she meets Jerry Martin a writer and they become friends One night he tells her that he loves her but in spite of the fact that she is emotionally aroused Dorothy clings to her idea of independence and sends him away Shortly after this Harvey Collins in an impassioned moment seizes her in his arms and Dorothy realizes for the first time how much she cares for Jerry It is as if this love of another man has at last awakened her but before she has had time to adjust herself to the situation Jerry tells her that he is going away On the night before his departure Dorothy's pride forsakes her and she tells him that she love him

CHAPTER XXVI

Caught at Last!

As she stared into Jerry's eyes Dorothy realized suddenly that she was afraid and yet there was something delicious about her fear It aroused another emotion in her that she could not explain

But this did not seem like Jerry Not the calm deliberate Jerry she had known Had he always been this way with the leaping flames behind his down dropped lids? That first night when he had kissed her he had not been as he was now there had been nothing about him to frighten her But now something had leaped up in him and was looking at her out of his eyes something almost elemental that made her breath catch in her throat

Jerry' she faltered Jerry

But he did not answer her Only his arms gripped her tighter and before she could speak again his lips were on hers Long afterward Dodo remembered that kiss as a sort of a challenge demanding her entire surrender to his will and possessed of a happiness that was almost delirious she gave herself withholding nothing caring for nothing but the privilege of being near him of feeling his arms around her and his heart beating against hers She felt beaten helpless and yet strangely weirdly happy

When he raised his head he looked at her a moment through eyes that were again hidden and then he spoke

Don't you see that I had to do that? he asked softly Don't you understand that it was the only way? You had to come to me willingly You had to make the first move It was my one chance of winning you utterly and I had to take it"

'You mean—' Dorothy said slowly 'that you won't go away That you never intended to go at all

Oh yes I intended to go just as I told you But somehow I felt that if you really did love me you would tell me so in spite of yourself I banked on that and I had to know If you had held out [illegible] come to me I should have left town tomorrow night

And broken my heart Dorothy said wonderingly Oh but it was cruel to torture me that way to make me think you didn't care that you had regretted having told me that you loved me And now—and now— she stopped unable to go on

Yes and now—' he said mockingly now that you're caught fairly and squarely what about your career What about this vaunted independence of yours? I warn you while there is yet time that marriage to me won't leave you time for anything of that kind I am a demanding person who will require every minute of your time I won't share it with any one

Dorothy smiled faintly Somehow at this moment her career seemed a rather empty and futile thing As Jerry had said she was caught fairly and squarely It all seemed like the logical working out of destiny as though some gigantic force had sent her along a path which she had no desire to tread Just a few months ago she had chosen her own path and her feet had been set firmly upon it Then one after another had come a chain of incidents over which she had no control

First her friendship with Harvey Collins and the troubled knowledge that emotionally she was no different from any other woman Then the incident of her family leaving town This had affected her more deeply than she had realized at the time for it had given her a sense of isolation that her vaunted independence had not been able to overcome Then Jerry had come into her life bringing the love that she had refused to accept And then more amazing than anything else had come Harvey's confession of his love for her She had tried to delude herself into the belief that she could go on working in the office with him after what he had told her that she could control the situation But after what had happened between them today she realized the impossibility of such a thing

Yes she was caught fairly and squarely which meant of course that she was going to marry Jerry

OFFICIALS SAY CHANGE COSTLY

Consolidation Of Treasurers' Offices Would Cost City $4.000 a Year.

Dayton Asserts Number of Employes Required Also Increased By Proposal.

Figures taken from records in the city hall reveal that to consolidate the city and county treasurers' offices under the provisions of S F 109 pending in the state legislature will cost the city $4 000 more each year than it costs to [illegible] office under the present system

The difference in cost of operating the consolidated office has not occasioned as much comment at the city hall however as a provision in the bill which takes from the county commissioners the right to oust and replace the treasurer in event of his misuse of city funds Specific provision is made in the Jeary bill for this power to be vested in the mayor and the city council

Under the bill provision is made for the payment by the city of 1 per cent of all tax collections to the county On the basis of 1924 collections of approximately a million and a half dollars this would total $15 000 which the city would pay as against $11 000 the total cost of operating the finance department last year

Claim Expense More

In addition to the $4 000 more which it is claimed the change would cost the city if the county collects the taxes it is contended that additional expense would be entailed because of the necessity of hiring employes in excess of the number now used to conduct the city's affairs Then too it is said it will be necessary to have a subtreasurer in the city hall who will look after the money collected each day by the water and light department which makes its own collections This amounted to $3[illegible]3 000 in 1924 $[illegible] 000 being for water

No cognizance is taken in the bill of the possibility of one or all of the suburban towns becoming a part of the city In this event the county treasury would receive 1 per cent on collections which are now being made by this office and for which it is claimed the county receives no added remuneration

The greatest objection against the bill expressed by city officials is the inconvenience which it will cause not only the city but the public generally It is contended this would be far greater than un

Extra Work for Applicants

Now all forms of taxes and special fees are paid at the city hall to the treasurer With consolidation in effect it is pointed out a person seeking a building permit will be required to make a trip to the engineer's office, make application for a permit go to the court house, pay the fee and return to the city hall and have the permit countersigned by the city clerk This same procedure would have to be followed in many other instances while persons paying special assessments would have to visit both places if there has been a division of property after the assessment was made To handle the special assessment end of the business it was declared by George Dayton it will be necessary to add another person at full time pay and a second part time in the city finance office

One of the most strenuous objections being voiced against the consolidation bill is a provision which [illegible] instead of [illegible] and December 1 as in effect in the city now This was put in effect by the city several years ago to make payments fall due on two different dates thereby lightening the burden on the taxpayer With consolidation it is declared the last part of the year will see the city without funds and compelled to issue warrants something which has not been done for many years

Before consolidation can be brought about however more room would have to be provided at the court house for the treasurer who said Monday that he was already cramped for quarters and had all the work he could do Under the Jeary bill the city is required to pay the county treasurer $[illegible]00 a year for his extra work

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Illegal And Immoral.

Dear Minerva: I am just a girl of eighteen summers and although I am of highly reputable parents my best boy friend ,in fact the only boy I ever loved, is of a questionable character, to be frank he is a bootlegger.

Now last evening my fiance accused me of having told some friends that he and I knew about some alcohol he had hidden out in the country. Yesterday morning these fellows located his cache and turned it over to the police.

Gee, but I am glad for if it were not for the stupidity of the officers my friend would have gotten caught as he was out all afternoon in search of his hidden cache.

He still believes I told them and the only way he will forgive me is for me to finance him to start in again because he is a college student and this is his only way of a livelihood.

Now if I refused him it will mean the end of our romance and I simply cannot give him up.

Please advise me what to do. Yours devotedly — HEART-BROKEN GIRL.

A. I would probably have dismissed your letter as insincere and sensation seeking, had it not been for a recent incident that I knew of quite directly.

A school girl of very fine parentage was found by her brother to have been delivering liquor for a young man for many months, doing it because of infatuation for the man and love of excitement. She narrowly escaped disgrace but even then thought it all a huge joke.

It seems downright stupid to me for a girl to countenance such lawbreaking and to have any love for the man who thus breaks the law. Association with such a man can bring only degeneration and disgrace.

The bootlegger is a criminal as surely as is the thief, the forger. He is deliberately breaking the law for personal gain.

Traffic in liquor is even more disgraceful because the trade even in times when lawful was not an honorable one.

Don't be an easy little simpleton and let this man work you through his personal attraction for you.

Keep your own conscience clear and do nothing of which you would be ashamed to tell your mother.

Spring Is Near.

Dear Minerva: I have never written to you before although I have read your Mail for several years. My home has always been here in Lincoln, but this year I am teaching in a small town and know very little about the new spring styles.

My friend and I have secured jobs in a hotel in a summer resort around the Great Lakes to make our expenses. But I do not know just what clothes I will need and what clothes will be worn this year. I am saving what I can to go back to college next year so my summer clothes must be inexpensive.

I had in mind a striped flannel sport dress. Would that be good this summer?

What weight materials are going to be worn?

What color and style of shoes and hose are going to be good?

I am five feet five inches tall and weigh 112 pounds. What would be a good length for my skirts.

I thank you for any suggestions you can give me.—TWENTY-ONE.

A. If you are to have but a few clothes I think a sports dress of the plain kasha cloth would be less tiresome than the striped dress. There are some beauties being shown trimmed simply in red or green, well tailored and made. You could wear your dresses quite short, say eleven or twelve inches from the floor. Light stockings and black patent leather slippers would be pretty and a dashing hat of pongee or leghorn sports style.

As Abe Martin says "Th' skirts'll be shorter, fuller, an' lots handsomer this spring, but we'll be up against th' same ole yeller stockin's.

Air In The Church.

Dear Minerva: I am not interested in dancing just now, nor any other morals. I have other things to take my time and thoughts.

(1) I wonder if there is any church in Lincoln that ever thinks about fresh air? I know of many persons who do not attend service They have gone to several of the churches, and no where is there enough air. It is impossible to look about one and see any means of ventilation. The Sunday school rooms are kept likewise—the teachings are fine, but why not have a little air with them. The average church is shut up for days at a time—then heated, and kept closed tightly to keep the heat in—and honestly, they are not fit to sit in through an hour's service. Can't the ministers see that this is done? The janitors evidently don't believe in air—but the ministers might if their minds were diverted to it.

(2) I have many garments in need of cleaning. I just cannot send all our winter clothes to the cleaners—I have not the money to do it. But everything needs a good, thorough spring cleaning. Can you tell me any way in which this can be done at home.

Let me know. Sincerely—ELLEN.

A. Most of the churches are ventilated through circulation air systems, the ventilators often visible in the art work of the walls. You probably feel stuffy because you cannot see a window open, or fan going. There may also be poorly ventilated churches, but most of them have the system I mention.

There are many good cleaners on the market which you can use in renovating your clothes.

Her Freedom

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Dorothy Carey hates the idea of marriage and determines to maintain her froodem. She has a position with the Woman's Apparel Magazine, and Harvey Collins, the editor who is a married man, is in love with her. While she is away on her vacation she meets Jerry Martin, a writer, and thye become friends. One night he tells her that he loves her, but in spite of the fact that she is emotionally aroused, Dorothy clings to her idea of independence and sends him away. Shortly after this Harvey Collins, in an impassioned moment, seizes her in his arms, and Dorothy realizes for the first time how much she cares for Jerry. It is as if this love of another man has at last awakened her, but before she has had time to adjust herself to the situation Jerry tells her that he is going away. On the night before his departure Dorothy's pride forsakes her and she tells him that she love him.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Caught at Last!

As she stared into Jerry's eyes, Dorothy realized suddenly that she was afraid, and yet there was something delicious about her fear, it aroused another emotion in her that she could not explain.

But this did not seem like Jerry. Not the calm, deliberate Jerry she had known. Had he always been this way, with the leaping flames behind his down dropped lids? That first night when he had kissed her, he had not been as he was now, there had been nothing about him to frighten her. But now something had leaped up in him and was looking at her out of his eyes, something almost elemental that made her breat catch in her throat.

But he did not answer her. Only his arms gripped her tighter, and before she could speak again,, his lips were on hers. Long afterward, Dodo remembered that kiss as a sort of a challenge, demanding her entire surrender to his will, and possessed of a happiness that was almost delirious, she gave herself, withholding nothing, caring for nothing but thep rivilege of being near him, of feeling his arms around her and his heart beating against hers. She felt beaten, helpless, and yet strangely, wearily happy.

When he raised his head, he looked at her a moment through eyes that were again hidden, and then he spoke.

"Don't you see that I had to do that?" he asked softly. "Don't you understand that it was the only way?" You had to come to me willingly. You had to make the first move. It was my one chance of winning you utterly, and I had to take it."

"You mean—" Dorothy said slowly, "that you won't go away? That you never intended to go at all?"

"Oh, yes, I intended to go just as I told you. But somehow I felt that if you really did love me, you would tell me so in spite of yourself. I banked on that, and I had to know. If you had held out, if you hadn't come to me, I should have left town tomorrow night."

"And broken my heart," Dorothy said wonderingly. "Oh, but it was cruel to torture me that way, to make me think you didn't care, that you had regretted having told me that you loved me. "And now,—and now—" she stopped, unable to go on.

"Yes, and now—," he said mockingly, "now that you're caught, fairly and squarely, what about your career? What about this vaunted independence of yours? I warn you while there is yet time, that marriage to me won't leave you time for anything of that kind. I am a demanding person who will require every minute of your time. I won't share it with any one."

Dorothy smiled faintly. Somehow at this moment her career seemed a rather empty and futile thing. As Jerry had said, she was caught fairly and squarely. It all seemed like the logical working out of destiny, as though some gigantic force had sent her along a path which she had no desire to tread. Just a few months ago she had chosen her own path, and her feet had been set firmly upon it. Then, one after another had come a chain of incidents over which she had no conrtol.

First, her friendship with Harvey Collins and the troubled knowledge that emotionally she was no different from any other woman. Then the incident of her family leaving town. This had affected her more deeply than she had realized at the time, for it had given her a sense of isolation that her vaunted independence had not been able to overcome. Then Jerry had come into her life bringing the love that she had refused to accept. And then, more amazing than anything else, had come Harvey's confession of his love for her. She had tried to delude herself into the belief that she could go on working in the office with him after what he had told her, that she could control the situation. But after what had happened between them today, she realized the impossibility of such a thing.

Yes, she was caught fairly and squarely, which meant of course, that she was going to marry Jerry.

OFFICIALS SAY CHANGE COSTLY

Consolidation Of Treasurers' Offices Would Cost City $4,000 a Year.

Dayton Asserts Number of Employes Required Also Increased By Proposal.

Figures taken from records in the city hall reveal that to consolidate the city and county treasurers' offices under the provisions of S. F. 109, pending in the state legislature, will cost the city $4,000 more each year than it costs to conduct the office under the present system.

The difference in cost of operating the consolidated office has not occasioned as much comment at the city hall, however, as a provision in the bill which takes from the county commissioners the right to oust and replace the treasurer in event of his misuse of city funds. Specific provision is made in the Jeary bill for this power to be vested in the mayor and the city council.

Under the bill provision is made for the payment by the city of 1 per cent of all tax collections, to the county. On the basis of 1924 collections of approximately a million and a half dollars this would total $15,000 which the city would pay, as against $11,000, the total cost of operating the finance department last year.

Claim Expense More.

In addition to the $4,000 more which it is claimed the change would cost the city if the county collects the taxes, it is contended that additional expense would be entailed because of the necessity of hiring employes in excess of the number now used to conduct the city's affairs. Then, too, it is said, it will be necessary to have a subtreasurer in the city hall who will look after the money collected each day by the water and light department, which makes its own collections. This amounted to $353,000 in 1924, $255,000 being for water.

No cognizance is taken in the bill of the possibility of one or all of the suburban towns becoming a part of the city. In this event the county treasury would receive 1 per cent on collections which are now being made by this office and for which, it is claimed, the county receives no added remuneration.

The greatest objection against the bill expressed by city officials, is the inconvenience which it will cause, not only the city but the public generally. It is contended this would be far greater than under existing conditions.

Extra Work for Applicants.

Now all forms of taxes and special fees are paid at the city hall, to the treasurer. With consolidation in effect, it is pointed out, a person seeking a building permit will be required to make a trip to the engineer's office, make application for a permit, go to the court house, pay the fee and return to the city hall and have the permit countersigned by the city clerk. This same procedure would have to be followed in many other instances, while persons paying special assessments would have to visit both places if there has been a division of property after the assessment was made. To handle the special assessment end of the business it was declared by George Dayton, it will be necessary to add another person at full time pay, and a second part time in the city finance office.

One of the most strenuous objections being voiced against the consolidation bill is a provision which makes all taxes delinquent May 1. instead of May 1 and December 1, as in effect in the city now. This was put in effect by the city several years ago to make payments fall due on two different dates thereby lightening the burden on the taxpayer. With consolidation, it is declared, the last part of the year will see the city without funds and compelled to issue warrants, somethnig which has not been done for many years.

Before consolidation can be brought about, however, more room would have to be provided at the court house for the treasurer,, who said Monday that he was already cramped for quarters and had all the work he could do. Under the Jeary bill, the city is required to pay the county treasurer $600 a year for his extra work.

Girl Struck By Streetcar Only Slightly Injured

The condition of Leota Fulmer, 18-year-old girl who was struck down and knocked unconscious Monday afternoon by a street car at Eleventh and O streets, was much better Tuesday morning, according to Dr. E. D. Cummins.

Miss Fulmer, who lives at 905 G street, was struck by a College View car about 3:30 o'clock. She was crossing on the north side of O street to the east side of Eleventh, and the street car was going north. She did not seem to see the car, according to Motorman J. L. Melson, but walked right into it.

Taken first to the Culbertson & Roe company office and then to St. Elizabeth's hospital in a Castle, Roper and Matthews' ambulance, Miss Fulmer soon regained consciousness. No injuries were apparent.

Six of Kentucky Family Die When Nitroglycerine Explodes.

(Associated Press.)

MONTICELLO, Ky., March 24.—Peter Franklin, 55 and his five young children, Ira, Carlie, Cecil, Beatrice and Ilar, were killed at Frazier in Wayne county Sunday afternoon when a can of nitroglyerine exploded in the yard of the Franklin home, it became known here Monday.

The family lived close to a nitroglycerine plant and the children while playing, picked up a can of the explosive and took it to their home. One of the children was beating on the can later in the day while the other children and the father were standing nearby when the explosion occurred.

The victims were blown to bits. The mother and two other children, who were not at home when the tragedy happened, survive.
